One little spider and one big spider.

The spiders saw some paints and paper.

The little spider got blue paint on his feet.

He made blue footprints on the paper.

The big spider got yellow paint on his feet.

He made yellow footprints
on the paper.

“We have made blue and yellow and green footprints,” the spiders said.

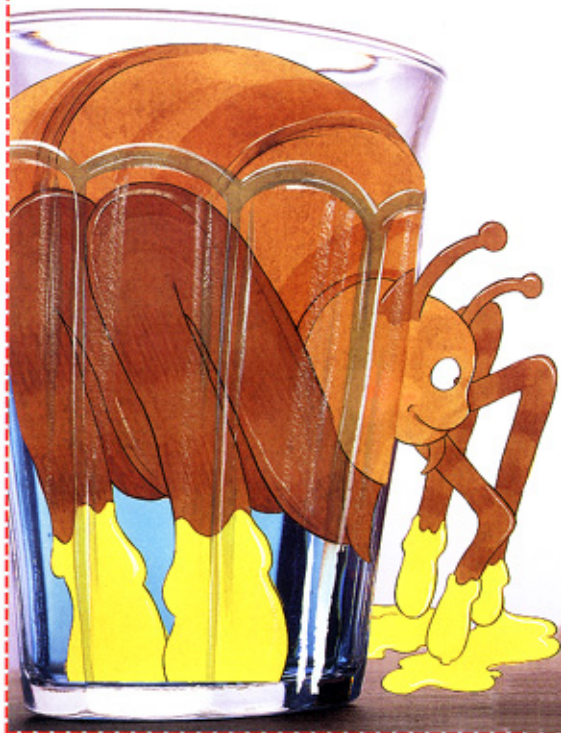

Then the little spider got red paint on his feet.

“Now we have made orange and purple footprints,” the spiders said.

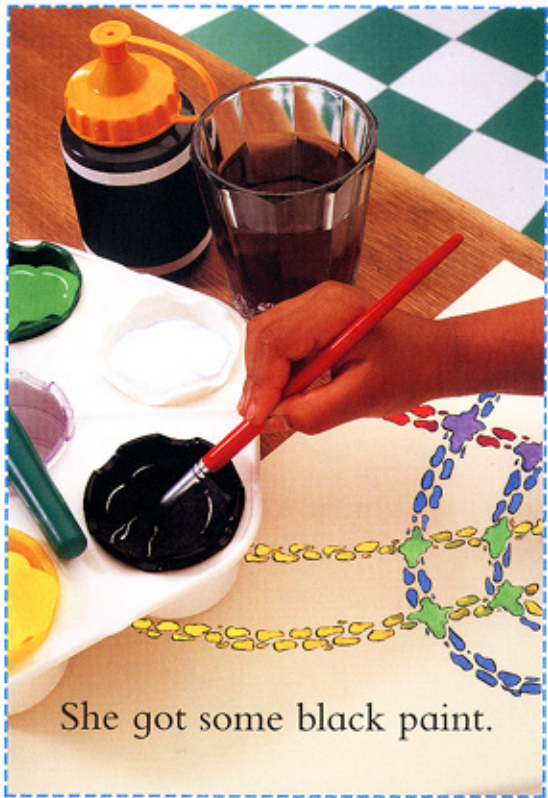

“We look funny,” they said.

“Let’s go!” said the big spider.

The girl looked at the paper.

She got some black paint.

What did she paint?

She painted two spiders.
