Brand new

I was just born. I can't see or hear but I can smell.

I can smell my brother and sister close by.

We have downy fur to keep us warm. We sleep most of the time.

This is me.

Snuggling up

I am two weeks old now. My eyes are open and I can see.

This is my mother.
She watches over me while I explore.
Where are my brothers and sisters?

I am very sleepy after my dinner. I snuggle with my sister for a nap.

Here they are! It is time for Mom to feed us her warm milk.

The world outside

A close-up photograph of a small, fluffy puppy with brown and grey fur and blue eyes. The puppy is sitting on a large, vibrant green mossy mound. The background is a plain, light color.

I am one month old.
I am growing bigger
every day.

I explore the world
outside our den.
It looks exciting!

I wonder if there are any juicy insects hiding in the grass?

Uh oh! I have a dirty face.
My brother licks it clean before we go home.

Hungry cubs

Now I am six weeks old.
My paws and claws are getting bigger.

Oh, no! This empty eggshell is stuck on my nose.

I am looking for something good to eat.

I hope Mom comes back soon. I am very hungry.

Young hunter

I am eight weeks old. I hear the smallest sounds, and I sniff many new smells.

I am a hunter today.
I am tracking my brother.

Here he is!
I creep up on him
quietly and jump.

Ouch! That hurts.
My brother's teeth are sharp.

Chasing tails

Now I am ten weeks old.
My tail is growing long and bushy.

I love running through the woods with the other cubs.

Then I curl up to sleep in the warm sunshine with my tail tucked around me.

Fine red coats

I am twelve weeks old.
My coat is red and shiny.
My legs are strong.

I find my own food now.
I am a good hunter.
