LAS VEGAS TOP 10

TOP 10 Las Vegas Highlights

The Entertainment Capital of the World offers just about everything: the world's largest hotels; the brightest stars in show business; shops and restaurants that rival any on earth. It's true, too, that the lights are brighter in Las Vegas. Yet you don't have to go far from the glamour and glitter to find the natural beauty of lakes and the desert as well.

1 The Strip

The neon artery of gambling pulses with excitement. Imaginatively themed resorts make it a street that never sleeps (see pp8–9).

2 Hoover Dam

An engineering marvel, the dam not only tamed the raging Colorado River but also created the enormous Lake Mead, providing myriad aquatic pursuits, just minutes from the Las Vegas city limits (see pp10–11).

3 Glitter Gulch

The heart of Las Vegas in its early days, downtown's centerpiece, Glitter Gulch, experienced a rebirth in the late 1990s (see pp12–13).

4 Bellagio

The hotel that upped the ante as far as Las Vegas luxury is concerned. It is well located, too (see pp14–15).

6 The Venetian

The Italian Renaissance revisited. Minstrels and nobility stroll among the Venetian landmarks; gondoliers glide by (see pp20–21).

5 Grand Canyon

The ultimate excursion from Las Vegas. Whether their trip is by airplane, bus, or automobile, most visitors say the experience is unforgettable (see pp16–19).

7 Wynn Las Vegas

This opulent megaresort is set in beautiful landscaped gardens (see pp22–3).

8 Red Rock Canyon

Not far from the city lights, this escarpment shimmers in the setting sun (see pp24–5).

9 The Forum Shops at Caesars

The glory that was Rome provides the backdrop for a choice of upscale shops and restaurants (see pp26–7).

10 CityCenter

This “city-within-a-city” is the most expensive privately funded resort complex in the United States (see pp28–9).

TOP 10 The Strip

Nowhere are the glitz and glitter of Las Vegas, or its ambivalence, so apparent as along the Strip. This 4-mile (6-km) long thoroughfare (actually a section of Las Vegas Boulevard) is the entertainment capital of the world and home to many of the largest hotels and casinos on the planet. The extravaganza of both its adult entertainment and family favorites makes Las Vegas a city of superlatives. The Strip is a master of reinvention, selling itself on seemingly contradictory values: hedonism one decade, family fun the next.

The Strip by day

You're on vacation – why not have doughnuts for breakfast?! Delicious “Krispy Kreme” doughnuts are on sale at Excalibur, at the entrance to TI, and in other Strip casinos.

To experience the excitement fully, get a hotel room with a view of the Strip. Best of all are the upper floors of the Venetian or TI, facing south.

Put on your shopping shoes early to beat the crowds at stores along the Strip. Or else patronize the hotel shops, which stay open until late.

1 The Strip by Night

After dark is when the Strip is meant to be seen: it's miles of neon tubes, millions of twinkling, pulsing, flashing lights, vast fiber-optic signs, and, of course, thousands of people create an almost euphoric excitement.

2 The Strip by Day

Although daytime lacks the glitter of the night, the Strip starts coming to life from mid-morning, when the street and sidewalks become thronged with cars and pedestrians. The Strip is one of 15 American thoroughfares designated as an “All American Road and Scenic Byway.”

3 Older Hotel-Casinos

Sahara, Riviera, Tropicana (left), and Bally's are among the few surviving hotel-casinos of the 1950s to 1970s. Their façades and landscaping are grand but not over-the-top, reflecting the postwar era. Room prices are relatively low.

4 Theme Casinos

The MGM Grand, Treasure Island – also called TI (see p33), Monte Carlo, and Luxor (see p72) were all built in the early 1990s. As their names suggest, they are designed around themes.

MGM Grand features a lion enclosure with real lions, TI (right) stages performances in Sirens' Cove. Ancient Egypt is the theme of the Luxor.

5 The Six Megaresorts

Bellagio (see pp14–15), Venetian (pp20–21, right), Wynn Las Vegas (pp22–3), CityCenter (pp28–9), Mandalay Bay (p32), and Paris (p33) have all opened since 1998. Once you are installed you won't have to venture out again: all your needs are catered for.

6 Fashion Show Mall

Fashion Show Mall (see p52) proudly upholds the Las Vegas maxim that “bigger is better.” This upscale mega mall houses 250 luxury shops and restaurants, and no fewer than eight major department stores are anchors here.

7 The Forum Shops at Caesars

A Las Vegas must-see, the Forum Shops (see pp26–7, above) combine entertainment, dining, and shopping. Let your taste buds tingle on a burger while your eyes feast on scenes from ancient Rome.

8 Hole-in-the-Wall Businesses

Clinging to life between the skyscrapers are simple one-story buildings that house everything from snack shops to tour operators. In one storefront operation men hand-roll cigars.

9 Hawaiian Marketplace

Located in the center of the Strip between Flamingo and Tropicana, this massive island-themed plaza encloses retail, dining, and entertainment areas.

10 Impersonators

Elvis lives – at least, his numerous reincarnations do. Elvis Presley and Marilyn Monroe impersonators, among others, are a routine sight on the Strip. They perform in nostalgia shows; some even perform marriage ceremonies. Keep your eyes open, though: some real celebrities live here too!

The Mob

As is vividly portrayed in the 1995 Robert de Niro movie Casino, organized crime and Las Vegas were natural bedfellows for several decades from the 1940s. Gangsters were drawn like maggots to the glittering coins piling up effortlessly in so many slot machines. Bugsy Siegel was the trailblazer with his Flamingo Hotel (see p30), while Midwest crime boss Moe Dalitz opened the Desert Inn in 1950. These days, improved regulation and policing appear to have eliminated Mob involvement.

TOP 10 Hoover Dam

Before the construction of the Hoover Dam early last century, the mighty Colorado River frequently flooded countless acres of farmland in southern California and Mexico. A series of studies into how to tame the rampaging river led in 1928 to the Boulder Canyon Project Act and the subsequent construction of the dam. This colossus of concrete – a triumph of engineering – not only provides flood control and generates electricity, but is also a huge tourist attraction, with nearly a million visitors a year.

The top of the dam

1 Before you leave Las Vegas, stock up on beverages and mouthwatering sandwiches at Capriotti's Sandwich Shop (322 W. Sahara) to have as a picnic later on a Lake Mead beach.

2 Take a cruise that does not include meals: it will be cheaper and give you more time to take in the surroundings.

Drive along the west shore of Lake Mead on highways 166 and 167, to access the Valley of Fire and Lost City Museum (see p98).

Hoover Dam Overlook 1

For a lasting first impression, stop at the overlook on Highway 93 as you approach the dam from Las Vegas. The vista point is often crowded, but stop anyway: the sight of 3.2 million cu yards (2.6 million cu m) of concrete, standing 727 ft (221 m) high and erected by thousands of workers laboring around the clock for four years, is truly awe-inspiring.

2 Hoover Dam Visitors Center

Audiovisual and theater presentations as well as multimedia exhibits explain the processes and perils involved in building this eighth wonder of the modern world. An overlook on top of the center provides an eagle-eye view of the dam, Lake Mead, and the Black Canyon.

3 Self-guided Tours

The tours include a descent to the fifth floor, where you can see the dam's huge turbine generators in operation.

The heart of the dam

4 Lake Mead
The dam's lake is the largest man-made body of water in the USA. Its 700 miles (1,120 km) of shoreline boast forests, canyons, and flower-rich meadows; its waters abound with fish. Boulder Beach offers the best swimming.

6 Lake Mead Cruises
The lake's shores come to colorful life from the deck of a boat (left). You'll see sandy beaches and rocks of every hue. There's wildlife, too – look out for burros, jack rabbits, lizards, and the occasional bighorn sheep.

9 Construction Workers' Houses, Boulder City
Up to 8,000 dam workers were housed here, and although many of the buildings have disappeared, cottages 1–12 look much as they did when they were built.

7 Scuba Diving
An unusual underwater scene greets divers: in addition to fish, there is a submerged factory where the dam's concrete was mixed, and the drowned community of St. Thomas. Take a trip with a local company; certified divers can rent scuba gear.

10 Commercial District, Boulder City
Walk back into 1930s America. The arcaded, southwestern-style buildings were the precursors of today's shopping plazas. Boulder Dam Hotel, by contrast, is in southern colonial style.

Ancient Peoples

Archeologists disagree about how long humans have lived in the desert along the Colorado River. There were certainly people living downstream from the dam 3–4,000 years ago, and possibly as many as 8,000. The Patayans were among the first Native Americans known to live in the broader tri-state area (Nevada, Arizona, California), appearing in about 900 AD; they lived in brush shelters and ate pulverized seeds and plants. Their descendants split into the Hualapai and Mojave tribes.

5 Black Canyon River Raft Trips
The Colorado River flows lazily below the dam, so rafting is pleasant rather than of the white-knuckle variety. The trip takes a little more than three hours to make the 12-mile (19-km) trip to Willow Beach. Look out for petroglyphs carved in the rock, and ringbolts: in the days before the dam these were used to winch steam boats through Ringbolt Rapids.

8 Boulder City/ Hoover Dam Museum
The dam and the people who built it are the focus of this museum, housed in the historic Boulder Dam Hotel (see p93, above). Don't miss the film chronicling the dam's construction. Memorabilia, photos, and posters give insights into life in the 1930s.

TOP 10 Glitter Gulch

During the 1980s and early 1990s, as the Strip became ever more glamorous, the downtown area – including the stretch along Fremont Street known as Glitter Gulch – went further and further into decline. City fathers and casino owners alike agreed that something had to be done to reverse the process and took action to see that it was. The resulting efforts have revitalized the area. Development is ongoing, with the opening of new restaurants and cocktail bars offering a greater range of entertainment for visitors.

Fremont Street

1 For a memorable meal, try Florida Café Restaurante Cubano (1401 Las Vegas Boulevard S.).

2 Don't wander away from the bright lights after dark. High-crime areas still exist not far from Glitter Gulch (see p131).

Arrive a few minutes before the hour to see the light and sound show at the Fremont Street Experience. Then explore the shops and casinos or enjoy the stage entertainment until the next show begins.

1 Glitter Gulch Lights

The heart of downtown has earned its name for reasons that become obvious as soon as you set foot here. This is one of the brightest places on earth – so much so that you can stand on the street at midnight and read a newspaper. Even before the Fremont Street Experience was conceived, the country's leading neon designers and lighting engineers were strutting their stuff here.

2 Fremont Street Experience

A major part of the downtown revival was the transformation in 1995 of one four-block stretch of Fremont Street into a pedestrian mall, covered with a 90-ft (27-m) high "Space Frame" containing more than 12.5 million lights. Every night, from 8pm until midnight, an hourly sound and light extravaganza entertains the crowds below. (See also pp78–9.)

3 Signs of the Past

Las Vegas Vic (see p80) has been waving to passersby on Fremont Street since 1951. More illuminating insights into the history of neon are at the Neon Museum (see p45) on the corner of Fremont and Las Vegas Blvd.

4 Las Vegas's First Casino

The place where it all started is the Sal Sagev Hotel on Fremont Street, which is now the Golden Gate. The strange-looking original name makes sense in mirror-writing. Today, it is famous not so much for gambling as for its shrimp cocktails.

8 Triple George Grill

This popular restaurant is reminiscent of a 1950s San Francisco diner, with its black and white tile floor and wooden booths. Located at 201 N. 3rd Street, the restaurant often hosts the best piano players in town.

9 Casino Characters

If you ever want to get from one end of Fremont Street to the other, you will have to resist the charms of an assortment of exotically dressed showgirls, mermaids, and cowboys hired by the casinos to entice people in.

10 Entertainment

In addition to the production shows and lounge acts at most of the hotels (see pp42-3), entertainment centers on Fremont Street. It's a popular venue for parades and performances by musical groups. (See also p82.)

6 Golden Nugget

The four-star Golden Nugget is the best-value hotel in the city (rates can fall as low as $60 in the off-season). Its casino is also first-rate (see p37). Try the Carson Street Café for its relaxing ambience – and also for some great people-watching.

7 Binion's

Dallas bootlegger and gambler Benny Binion established the property in 1951, and it was owned until 2004 by his descendants. The biggest names in poker continue to play at Binion's, although the World Series of Poker has moved to Rio (see p36.) The hotel-casino is worth a visit to appreciate its old-time atmosphere.

5 Fremont Street Pedestrian Promenade

Another mid-1990s downtown improvement is the walkway between Main and 4th Streets, which is decked with flowers, colorful street vendors' carts, and strolling performers.

Glitter Gulch Beginnings

For 20 years after its incorporation, entertainment in Las Vegas was limited to a few bars and brothels in the red-light district downtown. The legalization of gambling and arrival of 5,000 dam-construction workers in 1931 changed all that. Casinos opened on Fremont Street, and tourists began to arrive. World War II personnel and their families gave Las Vegas another population surge in the 1940s, and casino building continued apace after the war – as it does to this day.

TOP 10 Bellagio

From the flower arrangements in the halls to the fixtures in the bathtubs, Bellagio, built in 1998, is the epitome of perfection. The goal of Steve Wynn, who originally conceived this grand monument to leisure, was to create a hotel "that would exemplify absolute quality while emphasizing romance and elegance – romance in the literary sense, a place of ideal beauty and comfort; the world everyone hopes for, as it might be if everything were just right." Most people agree that Wynn achieved his goal.

Façade of the Bellagio

4 For a leisurely lunch in a tranquil setting, reserve a table on the terrace at Olives, overlooking Lake Bellagio.

4 For a real treat, indulge yourself with an afternoon spent at the hotel's luxurious spa. Group booking can be arranged for brides and bridesmaids, and there's even a treatment menu specifically for men.

To enjoy the full effect of Bellagio's fountain show, cross the street and go to the observation level of the Eiffel Tower at Paris Las Vegas.

Top 10 Features

- 1 Italianate Theme
- 2 Lobby Ceiling
- 3 Via Bellagio
- 4 Conservatory and Botanical Gardens
- 5 Casino
- 6 Gallery of Fine Art
- 7 Theater
- 8 Restaurants
- 9 Courtyard
- 10 Meeting and Business Facilities

1 Italianate Theme
Fronting on a pristine 8.5-acre lake with a tree-lined boulevard beyond, this extraordinary resort hotel was built to resemble an idyllic village on the shores of Italy's Lake Como. The Italianate theme is carried through the entire property – its original 3,000-room tower, the Spa Tower, 19 dining options, and two wedding chapels – creating an atmosphere of opulence. Building this representation of Italy cost $1.975 billion.

2 Lobby Ceiling
Visitors are greeted by a dazzling 2,000 sq ft (186 sq m) garden of glass flowers – the Fiore di Como – suspended from the lobby ceiling. The creator was Dale Chihuly, the first American artist to be designated a national treasure; amazingly, every single flower is different.

3 Via Bellagio

You are only likely to frequent Bellagio's shopping promenade if you have deep pockets. The establishments are as elegant as the Via itself, numbering among them such names as Prada, Tiffany & Co., Chanel, Giorgio Armani, Dior, Fendi, Gucci, and Yves St Laurent. (See also p52.)

5 Casino

Aesthetically this is the most pleasing casino in Las Vegas, less flamboyant and more sophisticated than the rest. Slot-machine carousels are fringed with specially designed fabrics rather than the ubiquitous neon tubing, and custom-made carpets provide a stylish relief from the norm.

6 Gallery of Fine Art

Bellagio's art gallery hosts major temporary exhibitions of important international artists past and present in conjunction with other large art galleries and museums in North America and around the world.

7 Theater

Designed for Cirque du Soleil's spectacular production "O" (see p38), the theater combines Old World magnificence (it is styled after the Paris Opera) with cutting-edge technology. Central to the production is a 1.5 million gallon (6.8 million liter) pool, which can be remodeled to meet each act's needs.

8 Restaurants

Bellagio's superb restaurants include Le Cirque, Michael Mina, Noodles, Jasmine, and Yellowtail. Picasso (see p46) holds the coveted Mobil five stars and is decorated with originals.

9 Courtyard

With its Italianate columns and statuary, five outdoor pools, and four spas (see p65), the formal courtyard at Bellagio is glorious for morning and evening strolls. During the middle part of the day, it is transformed into a scene of poolside cabanas, chaises (sunbeds), and umbrella tables, with bronzed sun-worshippers sipping cool drinks.

10 Meeting and Business Facilities

Bellagio has the capacity to host conference groups of up to 5,500 people in 50 different rooms, including three ballrooms. A professional staff is on hand to assist with needs such as word processing.

High Rollers

High rollers – gambling's big spenders – are courted by every major casino. Who qualifies (based on the amount he or she bets) varies in a good deal, but a really big spender – someone who wagers thousands in an evening – will get superstar treatment from the top hotels. They may get flown to Las Vegas in a private jet, put up in a luxurious suite, and given carte blanche to order whatever they want from the hotel. Like superstars, high rollers are also treated with the ultimate discretion, so you may not spot one.

4 Conservatory and Botanical Gardens

Keen gardeners and plant-lovers will be rewarded with floral displays that change with each season and Chinese New Year. Each change employs the services of no fewer than 120 professionals.

TOP 10 Grand Canyon

"Overwhelming" and "humbling" are the words most often used to describe the Grand Canyon experience. One of the world's most awesome sights, the canyon is 277 miles (443 km) long, 10 miles (16 km) wide, and as deep as a mile (1.6 km) in places. Because of the vast differences in elevation between floor and rim, the canyon encompasses a range of desert and mountain habitats. The South Rim, easier to access via road than the North Rim, is a five-hour drive away from Las Vegas.

Layers of the canyon wall

📍 See p106 for great places to eat at the Grand Canyon.

🕒 The South Rim of the Grand Canyon is accessible by road year-round, but the North Rim road and facilities are closed from November to mid-May.

You will need a permit to camp outside the official campsites within the national park. Apply in advance at the Backcountry Information Center.

- Map V2 • South Rim 271 miles (434 km), North Rim 255 miles (408 km) E of Las Vegas
- South Rim Visitor Center, Canyon View Information Plaza, Mather Point, open 8am-5pm daily, 928 638 7888

Top 10 Features

- 1 Flyovers
- 2 Flatwater Adventure
- 3 Visitor Centers
- 4 Hiking Trails
- 5 Overlooks
- 6 Whitewater Rafting
- 7 Skywalk
- 8 Tusayan Village
- 9 California Condors
- 10 Golden Aspen

1 Flyovers
Airplane flights to the Grand Canyon rank among the most popular day trips from Las Vegas (see p109).

2 Flatwater Adventure
If you want a taste of canyon rafting, sign up for a one-day flatwater rafting tour. The tours begin at the Glen Canyon Dam and travel 15 miles (24 km) downstream to Lee's Ferry, which is the entrance to Marble Canyon (see p105) and the beginning of the Grand Canyon itself. Along the way, near-vertical canyon walls rise high above the lake-like surface of the river.

3 Visitor Centers
Information centers at the North and South Rims of the canyon supply free maps as well as The Guide, which has general park information, The Jr. Ranger Guide, listing children's activities, and The Accessibility Guide, with information for disabled visitors. The Grand Canyon Railway (below) runs from the town of Williams to Grand Canyon Village, close to the South Rim Visitor Center. Great observation points are near both centers.

Hiking Trails 4

Ranking high with South Rim hikers are the South Kaibab, Bright Angel, and Rim trails (see p108).

Popular North Rim day hikes include those along the North Kaibab, Bright Angel Point, and Widforss trails. Don't attempt to hike to the canyon floor and back in one day: get an overnight permit.

Overlooks 5

For the grandest of grand views, head for the Yaki, Grandview, and Moran Points on the South and East Rims. You can see almost to Utah from the top of the 70-ft (23-m) Watchtower. Yavapai Observation Station and Maricopa Point, at the park's east entrance (Desertview), have marvelous vistas. Motorists can use the Desert View Drive (Hwy 64) along the South Rim, following the edge for 26 miles (42 km). Hermits Road hugs the North Rim for 8 miles (13 km), but is closed from October to May due to heavy snowfall.

California Condors 9

Standing over 3 ft (1 m) tall and with a wingspan of about 9 ft (3 m), the rare California condor may be spotted flying over the South Canyon Rim in summer.

Golden Aspen 10

In the fall, the North Rim explodes in a brilliant yellow blaze, as thick stands of aspen trees turn a golden hue.

Whitewater Rafting 6

Dozens of companies, like Canyon Explorations (see p109), offer whitewater rafting trips along the Colorado on the canyon floor. Trips vary in length from 6 to 16 days.

Skywalk 7

Thrill-seeking nature lovers must visit the Grand Canyon Skywalk on the South Rim. The glass platform allows you to look straight down to the Colorado River 4,000 ft (1,200 m) below.

Tusayan Village 8

Ruins of rock dwellings inhabited by ancestors of the Hopi Indians around AD 1200 are preserved between South Rim Village and the park's east entrance. On display at Tusayan Ruins and Museum are artifacts, recreated dwellings, and exhibits of contemporary local tribes. Grand Canyon – The Hidden Secrets is shown on a giant IMAX screen in Tusayan village.

Exploration of the Canyon

In 1869, Major John Wesley Powell, a veteran of the American Civil War, led an exploration party along the Colorado River through the canyon. On August 28, three of the men left the group at the rim of Separation Canyon. They were killed by Native Americans. Ironically, it was the following day that Powell's expedition emerged safely from the gorge, completing the first exploration ever made of the Grand Canyon.

TOP 10 The Venetian

Some months after the opening of Bellagio (see pp14–15), Sheldon Adelson was ready to unveil The Venetian. Everyone held their breath. Could anyone possibly replicate Venice? Of course not: Adelson imitated this most romantic of Italian cities just enough to catch the flavor but without sacrificing Las Vegas pizzazz. Since opening, The Venetian has announced a number of added attractions – a theater for live performances, a nightclub (see p42), plus extra eateries. Venice? Not really. But exciting – definitely!

Arcade in the grounds of the Venetian

6 Splurge on a meal at Wolfgang Puck's Postrio Bar and Grill, named by Hotels magazine as "one of the ten greatest restaurants in the world."

6 It is almost as much fun – and a lot less expensive – to watch the gondoliers from land as it is to actually ride in the gondolas.

If possible, visit The Venetian when there is a full moon and the crowds have thinned: by moonlight it is breathtaking.

- 4 St. Mark's Square
- 5 The Grand Canal Shoppes
- 6 Restaurants
- 7 Madame Tussaud's
- 8 Special Events
- 9 Palazzo Las Vegas
- 10 Casino

1 Architecture and Ambience

The grandeur of Venice meets Las Vegas glitz, and the results are surprisingly spectacular. True, the Grand Canal is only 1,200 ft (350 m) long as opposed to 2.5 miles (4 km), but any lack of authenticity is more than made up for by the festive Las Vegas ambience.

2 Lobby

Reproductions of frescoes framed in 24-karat gold adorn the domed and vaulted ceilings. Marble floors, classical columns, costumed courtiers, and a giant overview of the real Venice all serve to transport the imagination.

Grand Canal 3

Push the boat out and hire the Venetian's very own Wedding Gondola for your marriage ceremony! You can even sail under the Rialto Bridge.

5 The Grand Canal Shoppes

The galaxy of goodies in the shops along the canal (see p53; left) satisfy a wide range of tastes: there are magic tricks at Houdini's and ice-cream at Haagen Däzs; there are pearls at Mikimoto and smart sportswear at Banana Republic. Travel by gondola or meander the long walkway linking the stores.

6 Restaurants

Stars of The Venetian's gastronomic line-up include celebrity restaurateur Wolfgang Puck's superb Postrio Bar and Grill, Mario Batali's B & B Ristorante, TAO Asian Bistro and Nightclub (see p42), and Joachim Splichal's Pinot Brasserie (French-California fare).

9 Palazzo Las Vegas

This 2008 addition to The Venetian is a stunning, all-suite hotel-casino. There are shops, restaurants, and great entertainment, including shows and a nightclub.

10 Casino

Set in the Doge's Palace, the vast casino has 110 table games and 2,000 slot machines. On the walls of the high rollers' "Renaissance Room" hang works by Tiepolo, Tintoretto, and Titian. Also in the casino is Lagasse's Stadium with a sports bar and sports book and an eatery run by top chef Emeril Lagasse.

7 Madame Tussaud's

In a building fashioned after the library on St. Mark's Square, the wax museum opened in 1999 and features well-known celebrities such as Frank Sinatra (above). Some say the figures are even more lifelike than those in the London original (see p44).

8 Special Events

Throughout the year, The Venetian hosts events, such as a Special Celebrity Invitational Dinner Gala on Super Bowl weekend, and dragon dances during Chinese New Year.

4 St. Mark's Square

So the geography isn't exactly as per the original, but even if you notice you probably won't care – the total effect is, aesthetically, extremely pleasing, perhaps more so than at any of the other resorts.

High Hurdles

The journey of a major hotel-casino from the drawing board to the grand opening is a long and often tortuous process. Of course, plans must be submitted and approved by city government and county commissioners. But the most rigorous scrutiny is reserved not for the building but for those involved in owning and managing the casino. These people are vetted by the Nevada Gaming Commission and subjected to a thorough background check before a gaming license is issued.

TOP 10 Wynn Las Vegas

Built on the site of the legendary Desert Inn – once owned by Howard Hughes – this mega-resort was designed to captivate the highest of high-rollers and the biggest of the big spenders. Over-the-top opulence, from its extravagant villas to the automobiles in the Ferrari-Maserati showroom, reigns supreme. Wynn's sister hotel, Encore, is a luxurious addition to the resort, with its own selection of restaurants, suites, shopping, and entertainment. The grounds, with an artificial mountain and lake, are spectacular too.

☛ Of all the eateries at Wynn Las Vegas, The Buffet features everything from sushi to steak, and an all-you-can-eat buffet. Breakfast: $19.95; lunch: $22.95; dinner: $34.95 (Sun–Thu) and $38.95 (Fri–Sat); weekend brunch: $38.95 (with champagne; $31.95 without).

☛ Wear walking shoes if you want to explore the resort as there is a lot of ground to cover.

Moderately priced fare can be found at Wynn's casual dining outlets, including Pizza Place, Terrace Pointe Café, and Zoozacrackers.

- 5 Golf Course
- 6 Tryst
- 7 The Wynn Esplanade
- 8 Wedding Salons
- 9 The Grounds

1 Casinos
Both the Encore and Wynn casinos seem more intimate than their size would indicate. The gambling stakes on the slot machines and table games are higher than at other casinos; Encore's Sky Casino only takes minimum bets of $300,000. The decor is lavish, and there's not a flashing light or neon sign in sight. Tile walkways provide natural light and views over the indoor oases.

2 Le Rêve
This aquatic masterpiece is the work of Franco Dragone, who also created shows for Cirque du Soleil. The abstract production features fabulous costumes, jaw-dropping gymnastics, elegant synchronised swimming, and comedy. Shows take place in a theater in the round at the Wynn, where the stage is surrounded by a pool, so there are no restricted views. Be warned: seats in rows A to C always get wet (see p39).

3 Suites

The wall-to-wall floor-to-ceiling windows of the 1,300-plus suites look out on the Strip, golf course, or mountains. All guest quarters are enormous and feature European linen, elegant furniture, DVD players, and flat-screen TVs in both living and bath areas.

4 Fine Dining

Wynn's and Encore's restaurants have celebrity chefs preparing some of the city's tastiest dishes. Okada, at Wynn, is renowned for upscale Japanese cuisine with the likes of Kobe carpaccio, and foie gras with barbecued eel. Sinatra, at Encore, focuses on Italian favorites.

5 Golf Course

Owner Steve Wynn and golfer Tom Fazio collaborated in re-designing this huge course by moving more than 800,000 cu ft (23,000 cu m) of desert sand, repositioning trees, and adding features including the high waterfall that players walk under to get from the 18th hole to the traditional-style clubhouse.

6 Tryst

One of the most sophisticated and impressive clubs in the city, Tryst contains a marble staircase and the requisite pole dancing stage. The club is decorated with red velvet walls, and features a 94-ft (28-m) waterfall, and a patio that wraps around a semicircular lagoon. Table service costs $450 for three people, but drinks can also be bought at the bar.

7 The Wynn Esplanade

Behind the glass and chrome façades of Cartier, Oscar de la Renta, Judith Leiber, Manolo Blahnik, and almost two dozen other high-end stores lies temptation galore for visiting billionaires and gamblers. Window shoppers can admire the cars at the Ferrari-Maserati dealership nearby.

8 Wedding Salons

For visitors planning to marry here, there are two wedding chapels with private foyers and bridal rooms. The Lilac Salon seats 65 guests, while the Lavender Salon accommodates 120. The Primrose Court provides a romantic setting for outdoor weddings under a canopy of trees.

9 The Grounds

The resorts' beautiful surroundings bloom whatever the season. Mature trees, dazzling beds, and manicured bushes line exterior walkways. Inside, atriums and mini-oases decorate public areas.

10 Spas

Hotel guests can indulge in a range of wraps, massages, and other treatments. Clients can enjoy them in one of the 37 tranquil treatment rooms (below), or at the poolside cabana (top left).

Steve Wynn

If any one man can be credited with shaping the Las Vegas Strip, it is Steve Wynn. The creative casino magnate opened the Mirage in 1989 and a new era began – one that impacted on gaming around the world. When Wynn unveiled the Bellagio nine years later, the gauntlet for hotel-casino excellence was thrown down and the mega-resort trend was born. He describes his latest creation, Wynn Las Vegas, as “the most expensive, the most complex, the most ambitious structure ever built in the world ... ”

TOP 10 Red Rock Canyon

About 225 million years ago, everything at Red Rock Canyon was covered by an inland sea. The escarpment, formations, and caves were created after that sea evaporated and wind and rain began sculpting the land. This remarkable desert region lies just 10 miles (16 km) west of Las Vegas. A conservation area since 1990, it is protected from the encroaching asphalt and grass of city expansion. The 13-mile (21-km) scenic road that loops off Hwy 159 provides a good overview, but the best way to explore this part of the Mojave Desert is on foot.

8 Stop at one of the Einstein Bagels shops in Las Vegas for a picnic lunch to eat at the Willow Spring picnic area.

8 Trails that are suitable for wheelchairs start from the Visitor Center, at Willow Spring, and the Overlook.

You will need a permit if you want to camp overnight or go rock-climbing at Red Rock Canyon. Apply at the Visitor Center.

1 Red Rock Vista
The view from this overlook (about one mile past the Hwy 159 turnoff to the Canyon) is of the Red Rock escarpment itself, which rises a breathtaking 3,000 ft (1,000 m) from the valley floor. Time your trip to get here at either sunrise or sunset when the colors of this Aztec sandstone are at their sensational best.

2 Visitor Center
The Visitor Center (below) has area Maps and staff on hand to answer questions. You can peer through telescopes on the viewing terrace at the detail of surrounding formations. A small museum contains geological and natural history displays.

Red Rock Canyon

3 Hikes and Guided Walks
Of more than 30 miles (50 km) of hiking trails within the canyon, the most popular include those to Ice Box Canyon (it really is cooler there) and Oak Creek. Guided walks focus on aspects of the environment such as native wildflowers and the area's geology.

4 Desert Tortoises
 Look out for brown-shelled tortoises, which, with their lifespan of up to 100 years, may outlive you. They dig burrows in the desert and spend at least 95 percent of their long lives below ground. Astonishingly, adult tortoises can survive for a year without water.

6 Petroglyphs and Pictographs
 The area around Willow Springs contains some fascinating prehistoric rock carvings and paintings. The exact meaning of many of the incised and painted symbols is not known, but because the area's early inhabitants were hunters and gatherers, it is believed that many symbolize the procuring of food.

9 Desert Whiptail Lizards
 Common to the western United States, these small lizards have pointed snouts and forked tongues, which help them eat termites, spiders, scorpions, centipedes, and other lizards. Recognize them by the four or five light stripes along the back, and yellow or cream-colored belly with scattered dark spots.

10 Tinajas
 Prevalent in the Calico Hills and at White Rock Spring, tinajas (or tanks) are naturally formed rock catchments for water. They serve as drinking basins for wildlife and so are good places to head for photo opportunities.

5 Children's Discovery Trail
 Ask at the visitor center about their especially strong program for children, which includes educational funbooks and incentives for learning. Up near Willow Creek is the Children's Discovery Trail to Lost Creek. Less than a mile long, this fun round-trip highlights points of interest along the way. Pick up the free accompanying workbook at the Visitor Center.

7 Thirteen-Mile Drive
 The main scenic loop (above) is a one-way road taking in the Rainbow and Bridge mountains, and the Calico Hills. Designated stopping points for views are scattered along the way. Head for Willow Spring for picnic areas. Most of the hiking trails are accessible from car parks on the loop.

8 Bookstore
 The Visitor Center bookstore covers the local flora, fauna, and geology. Excellent Southwest-themed books for children include Gully-washer by Joyce Rossi and Cowboy Country by Ann Herbert Scott.

Mountain Biking

Designated mountain bike trails include the 41-mile (65-km) Red Rock-Wilson Cliff Loop, with a mile-long extension to the north peak vista at the top of Wilson Cliffs. The full ride takes five to eight hours to complete and is classed as very difficult, but the views of the Sandstone Bluffs and Red Rock Canyon lands are magnificent. Other rides include those totally within Red Rock, the Bristlecone Pine trail in the Spring Mountain Recreation Area, and one through Blue Diamond back to Las Vegas.

TOP 10 The Forum Shops at Caesars

"So many shops and so little time" is the complaint of most first-time visitors to the Forum Shops. Opals from Australia, an endangered species store, couturier clothes, and art galleries – there are over 160 stores in all. The common areas of the complex are open 24 hours a day, so the savvy travelers who want to window shop and get close-up looks at the Forum's fountains and buildings will stroll its lanes in the wee hours of the morning.

2 Pick up a map of the shops at the Las Vegas Convention & Visitors Authority (see p115).

1 Festival Fountain
Focal point of the original group of Forum Shops, the Festival Fountain is guarded by four animatronic statues of Roman notables, who talk about the days of the Roman Empire on the hour from 10am. The production generated excitement when the center opened in 1992.

2 Lost City of Atlantis
This attraction (below) is the centerpiece for the east wing of the Forum Shops. The fountain features animatronic characters that come to life hourly from 10am to 11pm, when the wrath of the gods is unleashed on Atlantis through fire, water, and smoke.

The Sky above the Forum

3 Sky Ceiling
The domed ceiling of the Forum Shops simulates a constantly changing sky. The morning sun shines; afternoon clouds float by; evening stars twinkle.

4 Joe's Seafood, Prime Steak, and Stone Crab
Main courses include quality steaks seasoned with Joe's spices, but the main draw here is the Stone crab from the Gulf of Mexico, served with Joe's home-made mustard sauce.

5 Upscale Fashion Shops

The shopping mall is bigger than ever after a 2008 expansion. Top designer brands including Fendi, Gucci, and Valentino, help this mall retain its self-proclaimed title as the “shopping wonder of the world”.

6 Max Brenner

According to chocolate guru Max Brenner, chocolate is not just about taste; it also represents romance, sensuality, and decadence. The Max Brenner chain is a worldwide phenomenon, with a menu primarily made from chocolate. There are 30 restaurants throughout the USA, with the Forum Shops location (right) being the largest in the chain. The restaurant features enormous vats for mixing chocolate, and crates full of cocoa beans. Bare brickwork and candles add to the atmosphere.

7 Planet Hollywood

This enormous restaurant is crammed with Hollywood memorabilia. Framed movie posters, celebrity photographs, costumes worn in famous films, and movie props make this café – according to its advertisements – one of the largest repositories for movie mementos in the world. California-style cuisine features out-of-the-ordinary sandwiches, exotic salads, and mouth-watering signature burgers.

8 Wolfgang Puck's Spago

Spago was the first of the celebrity chef restaurants on the Vegas scene, starting the trend that is upstaging the city's traditionally famous buffets (see pp48–9) with upscale dining. Duck with roasted garlic polenta and other unusual combinations are among the rotating specials at this sophisticated dining spot. Spago is one of six Wolfgang Puck fine dining establishments in Las Vegas.

9 Aquarium

This vast, 50,000-gallon (189,000-liter) saltwater aquarium is home to more than 100 species of ocean life.

Highlights include sharks and rays; there are also individual and schooling fish, which are normally found around coral reefs. Visitors can watch qualified divers feed the fish daily at 1:15 and 5:15pm, and there is a behind-the-scenes tour available daily Monday through Friday at 3:15pm.

10 Cheesecake Factory

With more than 200 items on the menu, Cheesecake Factory has everything from hot spinach and cheese dip with tortilla chips, bruschetta, and Tex Mex eggrolls to Triple Chocolate Brownie Truffle Cheesecake. Entrées include a teriyaki chicken that incorporates banana slices, pineapple, and brown sugar.

Commerce or Entertainment?

In most US cities, shopping is an end in itself: go to the mall, make purchases, return home. In Las Vegas, however, shopping has the added dimension of being coupled with entertainment. The Forum Shops and some of the other hotels, including Paris and The Venetian, have musicians, singers, mimes, and other performers strolling along the shopping arcades entertaining the crowds. It's all free and it adds to the glamour and excitement (see also pp52–3).

TOP 10 CityCenter

Las Vegas's largest creation is CityCenter, a "city-within-a-city" designed to have everything all in one place. Located on 67 acres (27 ha) in the heart of the Strip, the complex is home to six distinct properties – the Aria Resort, Crystals Retail & Entertainment District, the Harmon Hotel, the Mandarin Oriental, the Vdara Hotel, and the residential Veer Towers. The area also encompasses a casino, luxury spas, and several art galleries, all of which are within walking distance of each other. At a cost of $8.6 billion, CityCenter is the most expensive privately funded project in the United States.

1 Aria Casino
In contrast to the artificial light of most casinos, the gaming floor of Aria Resort's casino is bathed in natural light. It offers a variety of games and has exclusive salons providing high-limit slot machines and table games for high-end players.

2 Aria Resort
The Aria Resort (below) boasts 4,004 high-tech guestrooms and suites with views of the Vegas skyline and surrounding mountains. There are four outdoor pools with cabanas, while inside, the hotel boasts 16 restaurants, 10 bars, a spa, and a theater.

3 Crystals Retail & Entertainment District
Shopping, dining, and entertainment are all under one roof at this vast retail center (above). Designer stores include Tom Ford, Paul Smith, and the largest Louis Vuitton outfit in North America. Various works of art, including a three-story nest-like Tree House and ice and water sculptures, are dotted throughout.

4 Viva Elvis This 90-minute show by Cirque du Soleil (left) puts a unique spin on the life of Elvis Presley. The show portrays significant moments in the singer's life using a mix of dance, acrobatics, and Elvis's timeless songs. Under-18s must be accompanied by an adult, and no children under 5 are permitted.

8 Fine Art Collection There are permanent displays of fine art throughout CityCenter. Artists such as Maya Lin, Jenny Holzer, Frank Stella, and Richard Long have created pieces ranging from sculptures and paintings to large-scale indoor and outdoor installations.

9 Vdara Hotel This 57-story, all-suite hotel and spa (above) is connected to the Bellagio (see pp14-15) and to the Aria via a pedestrian walkway. Suites boast state-of-the-art technology and full-service kitchens.

10 Architecture Unique architectural features by eight of the world's foremost architects, including Foster and Partners, abound at CityCenter. Among the highlights is Crystals' quartz-shaped metal-and-glass exterior by Studio Daniel Libeskind.

5 Spas CityCenter spas include the Aria, which has a water garden; the Vdara, offering holistic treatments; and the Mandarin Oriental, where Eastern techniques are used.

6 Dining Dining options here include nearly every type of cuisine, as well as restaurants from top chefs, such as the Wolfgang Puck Pizzeria & Cucina.

7 Mandarin Oriental The company that helped define luxurious customer service has opened its first resort (below) in Las Vegas, a 47-story, non-gaming hotel with 392 spacious rooms and suites, and 225 luxury condominium residences. Guests check in at the Sky Lobby on the 23rd floor, and there is a sky bridge connecting the hotel to Crystals Retail and Entertainment District.

Eco-friendly site

CityCenter was built with sustainability in mind, and the project has been certified by the US Green Building Council. The Aria is currently the largest hotel in the world with Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) status. Features include natural lighting, an on-site combined heat and power plant, and a large-scale recycling program.

TOP 10 Great Moments in Las Vegas History*1 1855: Mormons Establish a Trading Post

Inhabited for centuries by Native Americans, and encountered by Spanish explorers in 1829, the Las Vegas area was only permanently settled in 1855 when a group of Mormons, led by Brigham Young, established a trading post here.

2 1931: Gambling Legalized in Nevada

The relaxed gaming laws passed in the Silver State in 1931 encouraged widespread participation (above). In reality, betting and gambling were already widespread and, in some forms, legal.

3 1935: Boulder Dam Dedicated by Roosevelt

The greatest hydroelectric project of the 20th century, the Boulder (later Hoover) Dam was begun in 1931 and completed four years later, at a human cost of 96 lives. (See pp10–11.)

4 1940s: Air Conditioning and Irrigation Arrive

The ability to keep buildings cool and the greening brought about by irrigation made the Nevada desert far more attractive to developers. In 1941 Los Angeles hotelier Tom Hull bought land three miles south of downtown for $150 an acre and built the 100-room El Rancho motel – a new concept in accommodation.

5 Christmas Day, 1946: Bugsy Siegel Opens the Flamingo Hotel

A handful of hotels and motels followed El Rancho, but only when mobster Benjamin “Bugsy” Siegel built the Flamingo Hotel was the hitherto Wild West feel of the town replaced with the Miami Beach style that was to become the hallmark of the Strip.

6 1960: The Rat Pack Comes to Town

The extravagant Flamingo was widely imitated in the 1950s, and entertainment was an important part of the new casinos’ allure. Frank Sinatra performed at the Sands hotel in 1960, with friends including John F. Kennedy in the audience. From then on Vegas became a playground of the so-called Rat Pack (Sinatra, Sammy Davis, Jr., Dean Martin, Peter Lawford, Joey Bishop, et al).

7 1966: Howard Hughes Arrives

Hughes’s Summa Corporation was a dominant player in the Nevada hotel/casino industry. Legend (which makes up much Las Vegas history) has it that the eccentric billionaire arrived in town one day by limousine and was whisked up to his suite at the Desert Inn, where he lived as a recluse for several years, with uncut fingernails and hair.

8 1990s: The Era of the Theme Hotels Begins

In the 1970s and 1980s the hotels became larger and more flamboyant. In 1991 the groundbreaking MGM Grand, Treasure Island, and pyramid-shaped Luxor launched the theme hotel in earnest.

9 1998: Bellagio Opens
Hotelier Steve Wynn set a new standard for Las Vegas hotels with the luxurious Bellagio (see pp14–15). The former owner of the Mirage hotel group (sold to MGM in 2000) is acknowledged as the creative force behind the modern resort concept.

10 2009 Onwards: The New Generation of Resorts
Las Vegas is a dynamic, ever-evolving city. The near future will see the realization of mega resort “cities”. Developments including CityCenter, Echelon and Viva offer greater accommodation choice as well as countless restaurants, shops, and entertainment venues.

Whether or not The Venetian really evokes accurate images of Venice is beside the point: the sum of the hotel's parts adds up to an aesthetically pleasing whole. (See pp20–21).

2 Caesars Palace
Caesars Palace opened in 1966 and was long the Strip's most opulent and, some would say, most ostentatious hotel. Times change, though, and Caesars has been forced to put millions of dollars into renovations in order to keep up with newcomers. Cleopatra's Barge – a floating lounge – is still as it was, and the cocktail goddesses still wear toga-like costumes, but new statues have been erected on the front lawn, and the former show theater, Circus Maximus, has been updated. ☎ 3570 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map P1-2 • 800 634 6001 • www.caesars.com • $$$$ (for price categories see p89)

TOP 10 Casinos

1 Rio
Cocktail waitresses in bright, flouncy costumes, an upbeat color theme, and friendly personnel make this casino a favorite with residents and visitors alike. The Rio also has the reputation of serving the best casino food in town. Video poker is the most popular game here, perhaps because mini-TV sets are mounted on top of some of the machines. 📍 3700 W. Flamingo Ave • Map C4 • 800 752 9746 • www.harrahs.com

2 Monte Carlo
The building reflects its European namesake, but the casino is typically Las Vegas, with the usual machines and table games. Monte Carlo's slot club is, however, superior to most; the air seems fresher than in most casinos, too. 📍 3770 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map Q2 • 800 311 8999 or 702 730 7777 • www.monte-carlo.com

3 J. W. Marriott Las Vegas
The casino at this sophisticated Southwestern-style resort is small. It is also relatively quiet. Best of all, when gamblers want a break, they have a choice of strolling through the lush gardens, eating at eight different restaurants, and browsing the smart shops. 📍 221 N. Rampart Blvd • Map A3 • 702 869 7777 or 877 869 8777 • www.marriott.com

4 Santa Fe Station
People who suffer from claustrophobia in casinos will find relief here, where ceilings are high and small groups of machines are located near the entrance. An extensive remodeling program has added extra parking, state-of-the-art race- and sports-betting facilities, and more restaurants, including Johnny Rockets. 📍 4949 N. 5 Harrah's
One of the most respected names in the gaming industry, Harrah's has more than a dozen properties across the USA and offers value for money in service, food, and ambience. Harrah's also has one of the best slot clubs as far as prizes are concerned; the club card can be used at any Harrah's casino, so it works well for people who like to gamble wherever they vacation. 📍 3475 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map P2 • 702 369 5000 • www.harrahs.com

6 M Resort

Located 10 miles (16 km) south of the Strip, the M Resort sits at an elevation 400 ft (120 m) higher than any other Strip hotel-casino and boasts superb views of the valley. The stunning glass-framed hotel offers indoor and poolside gaming, slot and video poker machines, a live action poker room, and a high-limit salon. 📍 12300 Las Vegas Blvd S., Henderson • 702 797 1000

TOP 10 Shows

1 "O"
 "O," staged by Cirque du Soleil, is a circus quite unlike any other. The whole show revolves around the theme of water (hence the name, as in the French eau). The acrobats, synchronised swimmers, divers, and characters perform in, on, and above water. Seven hydraulic lifts raise and lower the water levels throughout the performance, allowing for spectacular diving and other feats.

3 Penn & Teller
 Known as the "Bad Boys of Magic," for supposedly revealing the secrets of their tricks, Penn & Teller manage to break all of the rules of magic in this show. Edgy, provocative, and hilarious, on any given night the act can involve knives, guns, a fire-eating showgirl, or a duck. The show relies heavily on audience participation, with members invited onto the stage to take part in tricks. 📍 The Rio, 3770 W. Flamingo Rd

4 KÀ
 This innovative theatrical spectacle from Cirque du Soleil features astonishing acrobatic performances, martial arts, puppetry, multimedia, and pyrotechnics. The colorful and entertaining show was inspired by the Egyptian belief in the "kà," an invisible spiritual body which accompanies a person throughout their life. This theme is developed into an exciting tale about imperial twins who undertake a perilous journey into mystical lands. They face many challenges that must be overcome before can they fulfil their destiny. With astonishing computer-generated effects and 80 outstanding performers, the stage is brought to life in a blaze of fire and fantasy. 📍 MGM Grand, 3799 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map R2

3 Sterling Brunch
This may be the most expensive brunch in town, but the Sterling Brunch can compete with any in the world for quality and imagination. Two dozen appetizer choices include prosciutto mousse on raspberries, caviar with warm blinis, and lobster gazpacho. Roast salmon in phyllo pastry with shrimp and spinach mousseline is the carving station star, while French toast with cinnamon ice cream provides a delicious finale. ## TOP 10 Wedding Chapels

1 Bellagio Wedding Chapels
 Bellagio's two chapels provide some of the most elegant and romantic wedding venues in Las Vegas. Both have a stained-glass window behind the altar, while ornate lamps and chandeliers of amethyst and Venetian glass complement the pastel shades of the furnishings. Personalized services are available for room reservations as well as both wedding and reception planning.

8 Island Wedding Chapel

Located at the Tropicana, this chapel offers wedding ceremonies in a tropical paradise. There are two options on offer – take your pick from a ceremony in the lush Polynesian Gardens Gazebo or the South Seas-style palm-thatched Chapel. The Island Wedding Chapel was voted lushest chapel in Las Vegas by Brides Magazine in 1999. 📍 3801 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map R2 • 702 798 3778 • www.tropicinachapel.com

9 The Little White Chapel

This chapel represents what for many people is the epitome of Las Vegas; it has acquired a reputation for hosting rather unusual weddings. It was here in the spring of 2001 that a mass wedding took place, officiated by multiple Elvises. For the bride and groom who are acting on mad impulse or whose hectic lives leave them only a few minutes to spare, the Little White Chapel offers the world's only Drive-Up Wedding Window. TOP 10 Places to Shop*1 The Forum Shops at Caesars

The Forum Shops are laid out along pseudo-Roman streets within the Caesars Palace complex, characterized by two-story storefronts topped with statues of Roman senators. Along with wares from Europe, American design is featured at stores like Banana Republic, Ann Taylor, and Houdini's Magic Shop. Ask for a map of the shops at the Las Vegas Convention & Visitors Authority (see p115) before you put on your shopping shoes. (See also pp26–7.)

2 Via Bellagio

Simply walking along Via Bellagio (see also p15) is an unforgettable experience. The boutiques are so opulent as to be intimidating: even if you dare not step inside, then at least the entrances to Fendi, Chanel, Gucci, and others are large enough to see inside. Tiffany's windows are especially dazzling during the holiday season.

7 The Grand Canal Shoppes

Located on the second floor of The Venetian (see pp20–21), the emphasis at Grand Canal Shoppes is on European elegance. Exquisite goods for sale include handmade Venetian lace, glass, and masks as well as silks, shoes, and jewelry from various European countries. Part of the pleasure of shopping at this mall is the distinctive ambience – it may not be quite like the real Venice, but the experience is enjoyable nonetheless. 📍 The Venetian, 3355 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map P2

8 Mandalay Place

An eclectic selection of shops located on a 100,000-sq-ft (9,290-sq-m) sky bridge, connecting Mandalay Bay with the Luxor Hotel and Casino. Stores include the world’s first Nike Golf store and The Art of Music, which sells autographed memorabilia. Plenty of restaurants and eateries as well. 📍 Mandalay Hotel, 3950 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map R1–2

9 Town Square Shopping Plaza

Take some time out from the Strip’s sensory overload at this large outdoor mall with its village-like storefronts and quaint streetscapes. The 150-plus stores and restaurants include big-name favorites such as Gap, H&M, and Apple. There is plenty of entertainment with an 18-screen movie theater and a kids’ playground, boasting a 42-ft (13-m) tall tree house. There is also a wide range of restaurants. 📍 6605 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map C5

10 The Shoppes at The Palazzo

The latest attraction for shoppers looking for luxury goods can be found within the Palazzo, part of The Venetian casino and hotel complex (see p21). ## TOP 10 Souvenirs

1 Jigsaw Puzzles of the Strip

A pastime with no cash payout, but plenty of variety in terms of styles of puzzle and images of Vegas. The most popular are puzzles that piece together the Strip by night or form cartoon renditions of sights along the Strip. And since this part of Las Vegas is ever-changing, you may one day have a collector's item.

2 Personalized Poker Chips

The perfect souvenir for people who host their own card games. Personalized chips come in traditional colors (see p124), but can bear your name in place of a casino's name and logo.

3 Souvenir Photos

Have your picture taken dressed as a pioneer, a cowboy, or a showgirl. Or, if the fancy takes you, you can dress up in a medieval outfit. Alternatively, have your face substituted for a magazine-cover celebrity. The photos generally cost $25 or less and make fun mementos.

4 Elvis Sunglasses with Fake Sideburns

Although he didn't make much of a hit when he first appeared in Las Vegas in 1956, Elvis Presley has since been firmly associated with the Entertainment Capital of the World. Your career as an Elvis impersonator could start here, with a pair of these sunglasses and sideburns.

5 Dice-Decorated Clocks

Made of bright blue lucite, glittery gold plexiglass, brass, wood burls, or any other material known to man, these clocks – with dice marking the hours – fall into the genre of Las Vegas kitsch. Other tacky items include toilet seats inlaid with playing cards and poker chips, and tissue box covers with gaming motifs.

6 Books about Nevada

Las Vegas bookstores carry a large assortment of publications on the locale, including The Nevada Trivia Book by Richard Moreno, A Short History of Las Vegas by Myrick and Barbara Land, and several about slot machines by Marshall Fey (grandson of the inventor of the first slot machine). For fiction, try Sweet Promised Land or A Cup of Tea in Pamplona by the late Basque-American writer, Robert Laxalt.

7 Nevada-Made Gourmet Foods

The best-known Nevada-made edibles are Ethel M. Chocolates, created by Forrest Mars, a member of the Milky Way, Mars, Three Musketeers, and M&Ms manufacturing family. For the more refined palate, try Mrs Auld's Sweet 'n' Spicy pickles, her scone mix, or brandied cherries; Davidson Teas are good, too.

Poker chips

8 Antique Slot Machines

Machines that date back to 1895 – when Charles Fey invented the very first slot machine, The Liberty Bell – occasionally appear on the auction block. Designs range from high Victoriana to Art Deco, and the rarer antique models can cost several thousand dollars.

9 Show Programs and Logo Items

Each major Las Vegas show has a shop associated with it, usually located near the box office. Commemorative T-shirts and various production recordings are the most common items for sale. However, anything that can be sold will be sold, including magicians' equipment, Chinese circus plates, and logo-emblazoned bottle stoppers, skipping ropes, and yo-yos.

10 Cash

The ultimate item to bring home from a Las Vegas trip has got to be several suitcases of hard cash. Although there are more losers than winners at the slot machines, roulette wheels, and gaming tables, visitors occasionally hit big jackpots, such as those on Megabucks and Quartermania machines, netting them huge sums of money.

Picture-Perfect Photo Spots

1 Bellagio Conservatory

Arrange your subjects in front of the most gorgeous floral display. The skylights give good light (see p15).

2 Venetian Gondola

Have someone in another gondola take the photo so you can be in it, too (see p20).

3 Hard Rock Hotel Swimming Pool

Best taken from a hotel room to get the pool's guitar shape (see pp32–3).

4 Terrace, Loews Lake Las Vegas

Wonderful at sunset, when the hills and houses are bathed in a gold light (see p89).

5 Madame Tussaud's

Have your loved one stand next to his or her favorite wax museum celebrity (see p44).

6 Brahma Shrine, Caesars Palace

This lovely shrine is supposed to bring good luck (see p32).

7 TI Gangway

Either of the ships makes a delightful backdrop for your photos, or take a shot of the ships and village (see p33).

8 Glitter Gulch Entertainers

Pair your subject with a celebrity impersonator, who will be pleased to pose for a tip (see p13).

TOP 10 Outdoor Activities*1 Hiking at Red Rock Canyon

Follow Hwy 159 (Charleston Boulevard) west for about 25 minutes to find yourself in another world in the Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area (above). A scenic drive loops through Red Rock Canyon: venture off this to get away from civilization (see pp24-5).

2 Cycling at Desert Shores

Cycling in Las Vegas can be pleasant – especially in the quieter, smarter residential areas of Green Valley and off Charleston Boulevard. Even better, though, are the paths at Desert Shores, in northwest Las Vegas, where you'll enjoy abundant shade and water views.

3 Jet Skiing on Lake Mead

Water babies should head for Calville Bay Marina or the Lake Mead Marina to rent jet skis, water skis, and other water craft. Note that the wearing of life jackets is obligatory out on the water. (See pp92-5).

4 Roller-Blading at Summerlin

Summerlin is a planned community northwest of downtown, and its smooth sidewalks are perfect for roller-blading. The surroundings are among the most pleasant in the city, generally smog-free with attractive houses and condominiums. In-line hockey fans should head for the rink at the Sports Park. 📍 Las Vegas Sports Park, 1400 N. Rampart Blvd

5 Tennis at Sunset Park

The eight floodlit courts at Sunset Park (below) are easy to get to (they are only about a mile from the southern end of the Strip), and they also cost far less than the courts at sports clubs and hotels. While you wait for a court enjoy the ringside view of

1 The Sirens of TI

This free show, staged in a cove built at the entrance to TI, is a favorite with visitors to Las Vegas. The 23-minute crowd-pleaser showcases the beguiling and beautiful “Sirens of TI,” who tempt and lure a band of swashbuckling pirates. From lively sword fights and acrobatic feats of derring-do to dazzling pyrotechnics and a rousing song-and-dance finale, this show is a hit, drawing huge crowds to their evening performances.

📍 TI, 3300 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map P2
 • Performances spring & summer: 7pm, 8:30pm, 10pm, & 11pm daily; winter & fall: 5:30pm, 7pm, 8:30pm, & 10pm daily • Free

2 Circus Circus

Over the course of almost 30 years, Circus Circus has entertained hundreds of thousands of spectators with their impressive shows. Stars have included the Flying Farfans of Argentina, the miniature-bicycle rider Charles Charles of Paris, and Russian acrobat Valerie Akishin. With performances taking place every half hour, you can pop back for different shows and catch a wide variety of acts.

📍 2880 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map M-N2
 • Performances every half hour, 11am–midnight • Free

3 Fountains of Bellagio

More than 1,000 fountains perform a water ballet above Lake Bellagio, in defiance of the parched, baking desert that surrounds the city. Soaring as high as 240 ft (73 m) in the air, the cascading water is choreographed to classical music. Bellagio and the other properties in the MGM MIRAGE group use incandescent lighting rather than neon, which make the Italian village surrounding the lake a lovely backdrop for the dancing waters. 📍 3600 Las Vegas Blvd S.

• Map Q1-2 • Performances every half hour, 3pm–8pm Mon–Fri, 12pm–8pm Sat–Sun. Every 15 mins 8pm–midnight daily

4 MGM Grand Lion Habitat

In keeping with MGM’s lion theme (below), the hotel has a glass viewing enclosure, allowing you to stand face to face with the king of beasts. The lions, when not in the habitat, live in custom-built accommodations on an 8.5 acre (3.5 hectare) ranch 12 miles (20 km) from the hotel.

📍 MGM Grand, 3799 Las Vegas Blvd S.
 • Map R2 • Open 11am–7pm • Free

Condo Construction

For people who like to watch the activity at construction projects, Las Vegas is a dream come true.

Along the Strip and adjacent streets, high-rise condos and other residential projects are emerging.

Transportation links and public facilities are also in the works, so wherever you wander you can watch giant cranes lift girders, and see new foundations being laid.

5 The Luxor

A strikingly modern twist on an ancient classic, the Luxor's unique 30-floor, black-glass pyramid is one of the most recognizable landmarks in Vegas. A life-size replica of the Great Temple of Ramses II is prominently featured inside the awe-inspiring atrium, which at 29 million cubic ft (820,000 cubic m) is one of the largest in the world. A 10-story sphinx (larger than the Egyptian original) guards the premises. The Luxor is also home to Cirque du Soleil production, CRISS ANGEL Believe, and BODIES... The Exhibition.

performed by another group of statues – Neptune and his feuding children – at the Atlantis Monument between the Cheese-cake Factory and Race for Atlantis. The show also features huge winged beasts and a dazzling, hi-tech wrath-of-the-gods firestorm. Some of the shops, too, provide entertainment: pop into Magic Masters and look out for a secret door leading to the replica of Harry Houdini's library. (See also pp26–7.)

7 Auto Collection at the Imperial Palace

Perhaps the most fascinating aspect of this collection is that all the vehicles (more than 250) are for sale. Elvis Presley's 1972 Lincoln Continental and a 1965 Rolls Royce Silver Cloud III that was once owned by Lucille Ball are just two of the vehicles that have passed through these doors. Look out for free tickets at tourist-information stations and in entertainment magazines.

📍 Imperial Palace, 3535 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map P2 • 702 794 3174 • Open 10am–6pm daily • Admission charge

8 Shark Reef at Mandalay Bay

It is truly awe-inspiring to wander within the special walkways of the 1.3 million-gallon (5.9 million-liter) aquarium and observe the thousands of wonderful sea creatures swimming together. Look out for the arowana dragon fish – and, of course, 11 different species of shark. 📍 Mandalay Bay, 3950 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map R1

• Open 10am–8pm Sun–Thu, 10am–10pm Fri & Sat • Admission charge

9 Paris Las Vegas
The Eiffel Tower and Arc de Triomphe are faithfully and impressively reproduced at Paris Las Vegas Hotel, albeit on a smaller scale than the originals. Buy fresh baguettes from a street vendor, and nibble to the strains of tunes by the great Maurice Chevalier, as interpreted by a wandering accordionist. 📍 3655 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map Q2

10 The Mirage Volcano
With displays like this, it is hardly surprising that the Mirage, when it was built in 1989, is said to have triggered the 1990s hotel-building boom. The man-made, multimillion-dollar volcano (below) spews fire 100 ft (30 m) into the air on the hour, from dusk to 11pm every evening. Ingenious lighting and steam effects convey the drama of lava flows, while loudspeakers broadcast vivid sound effects. 📍 The Mirage, 3400 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map Q1 • Erupts 7pm–midnight • Free

A Day on the Strip

Morning

Start with breakfast in the delightful Verandah Café at Four Seasons, which is within Mandalay Bay. While there, visit Shark Reef where you'll be glad you're not about to become one of their specimen's breakfast. Also within the hotel is the House of Blues, worth checking out for the excellent collection of American folk art.

Head north up the Strip to the Lion Habitat at MGM Grand (p71) followed by a walk to the Auto Collection at the Imperial Palace (car buffs may have to be removed forcibly!).

For lunch, cross over to Harrah's for the Fresh Market Square Buffet (see p49).

Afternoon

At the Forum Shops you are liable to shed the shoppers in your party.

Next stop is Circus Circus (see p71). It's a hike, so you may opt for the CAT bus or monorail that stop along the Strip. After your trip there, you deserve a sugar break. Head for the Krispy Kreme doughnut shop and enjoy one of their legendary doughnuts. Newly fortified, explore Circus Circus (laugh at your stomach outline in the funhouse mirrors) and then walk back down to TI and watch The Sirens show.

Cross the street to Casino Royale, get a window table, and watch The Mirage Volcano erupt while you dine. For a nightcap, walk down to the Eiffel Tower at Paris Las Vegas, for the best view of Fountains of Bellagio (see p71).

Downtown

THE LAS VEGAS DOWNTOWN is not a place of megastory financial temples. Instead, it is a conglomeration of government buildings, carnival attractions, not-so-very-glamorous casinos, storefront shops dealing in souvenirs, and unclaimed pawn shop miscellany.

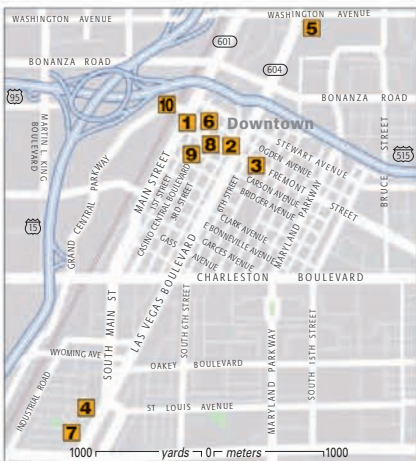

Glitter Gulch is the heart of the area, with its neon-lit row of casinos and, since the mid-1990s, free entertainment in the form of the Fremont Street Experience. This nightlife zone is here to stay, but the Las Vegas leadership is also planning a legitimate downtown on 61 acres close to Fremont Street, which will reflect the status of Las Vegas as one of America's richest cities.

1 Glitter Gulch

The area called Glitter Gulch encompasses about eight blocks that front on Fremont Street between Main and Fourth streets. Along this stretch is the most concentrated dazzle of neon on the planet. Not only are all the Fremont Street casino fronts decorated with neon, but the street signs and light shows (see p82) above contribute to the sparkling brilliance. Nighttime, of course, is when the lighting is at its most intense. The crowds on the malled walkway are heavy until after midnight, and the entertainment adds to a feeling of carnival. (See also pp12–13.)

Stratosphere Tower

2 Fremont Street Experience

The part of Fremont Street associated with Glitter Gulch is now under cover and the site of lavish free entertainment collectively labeled the Fremont Street Experience. Alongside spectacular nightly sound and light shows (see p82), special events take place throughout the year, such as the March St. Patrick's Day Celebration, Pride Parade in May, Las Vegas Culture Fest in September, a Veterans Day Parade in November, and the Holiday Festival in December.

3 Downtown Casinos

Along with all the outdoor activity on Fremont Street, there's action inside the casinos, too. They may not be as glamorous as the big hotels on the Strip, but the Fremont Street and other downtown clubs have more history – some date back to the 1940s. They are also known for their bargain meals.

4 View from Stratosphere Tower

You may not be able to see forever exactly but, from the top of the tower on a clear day, parts of Arizona and California come into view. Count the 40 seconds it takes for the high-speed elevators to whiz up to the tower's floor-to-ceiling glass observation floor, which is 900 ft (275 m) above street level. The tower is a tourists' after-dark favorite for viewing the mesmerizing lights of Glitter Gulch and along the Strip. 📍 2000 Las Vegas Blvd S. at the corner of Main St

5 Old Las Vegas Mormon Fort Historic Park

Mormons built the fort, along with a trading post in 1855, as a defense against the Native Americans (who turned out to be peaceful). It is the oldest building of its type in Nevada, but of the original structures only a small adobe building that was part of the stockade remains.

6 Pawn Shop Plaza
Chainsaws, boom boxes, fake Rolex watches, belt sanders, diamond rings, car jacks, and hundreds more items are piled on counters and hung from the ceilings in the shops of the plaza. This astonishing assemblage is testimony to the fact that some gamblers will sacrifice almost anything. Nevada law permits a monthly ten percent interest on pawn shop loans – few pledges are redeemed. ☎ Area on First St north and south of the Fremont St intersection • Map J4

7 Bonanza Gift Shop
The mother-of-all-souvenir-stores (right) includes such delights as miniature slot machine banks, X-rated bumper stickers, Elvis motifs on black velvet, sequin-studded hats, personalized dice, and gambling chip-encrusted toilet seats. The place is enormous, crowded with tourists, and crammed with anything that can possibly be marketed as a souvenir of the city. ☎ 2460 Las Vegas Blvd S. • Map M3

New Year's Eve in Glitter Gulch

Historically, Glitter Gulch has been the place favored by Las Vegas resident revelers for New Year's Eve. Each year since the advent of the Fremont Street Experience, the celebrations have become more elaborate with live music and other entertainment; food and beverages; a countdown to midnight; fireworks; and dancing in the streets. Of course, there are paper hats, noisemakers, and serpentine, too. But, unlike most Fremont Street happenings on all other days of the year, the New Year's Eve festivities are not free.

8 Vegas Vic Sign
Fifty feet (16 m) tall, Vegas Vic is a survivor from the early casino days. In bygone days not only did he smoke and wave but he also talked, saying "Howdy pardner, welcome to Las Vegas." Now, Vic's voice box works only sometimes, but he still provides the backdrop for thousands of visitors' photographs each year. ☎ 25 Fremont Street • Map K4

9 World's Largest Slot Machine, Four Queens

According to the Guinness World of Records Museum, the enormous eight-reel contraption within the Four Queens Hotel-Casino is the largest slot machine in the world. Up to six players at a time insert from one- to three-dollar tokens into the slot of the 9-ft (3-m) tall and 18-ft (6-m) wide machine; an employee pulls the giant-size handle; and everyone watching holds their breath. Winning combinations are posted on the machine. Should you be tempted to try, bear in mind that the more reels a machine has, the more difficult it is to hit winning combinations. 📍 202 E. ## 10 Jackie Gaughan's Plaza Hotel-Casino

From Main Street, Jackie Gaughan's Plaza may look like just another casino, but it sits on a historic spot. Built in the 1970s, the Plaza is located on the site of the birthplace of Las Vegas, at the first Union Pacific Railroad Depot Station. The station is no longer there, but the railroad tracks can still be seen on the back side of the property. The Plaza has the only bingo room in downtown Las Vegas, with a $10,000 prize each session. Bingo sessions are every two hours, beginning at 11am and ending at 9pm. 📍 1 Fremont St at Main Street • Map J4

Downtown After Dark

Late Afternoon

🕒 Begin your excursion in the mid- to late afternoon, with a flying visit to the Mormon Fort (see p79). 📍 Allow more time if you are a history buff.

Next, head south to browse the Bonanza Gift Shop. Take a look around Pawn Shop Plaza while it is still light, then, as dusk deepens and the lights of Fremont Street begin to beguile, start exploring the Glitter Gulch nightlife (p79).

🍴 Try dining at one of the top restaurants in downtown, such as Vic and Anthony's at the Golden Nugget Casino (129 Fremont St), with its black-and-white decor, or the romantic Hugo's Cellar at Four Queens (202 Fremont St).

Nighttime

🕒 After dinner, stroll along Fremont Street's pedestrian promenade, stopping in at the shops that catch your eye and the vendors' carts that capture your fancy. If gaming's your pleasure, step inside the El Cortez Hotel's casino (600 Fremont Street).

Check out the casino at the Plaza, then wander down to Main Street Station. Pick up a brochure here with a map and list of treasures – including street lamps from Brussels and a portion of the Berlin wall – that are incorporated into the building's decor.

Back at Fremont Street Experience (p79), watch a light and sound show, then head to Stratosphere (p79) to top off the night with a stunning view of the city.

Beyond the Neon

LOOK BEYOND THE NEON and you will find that Las Vegas is, like the god Janus, a two-faced town. One is about make-up and make-believe; the other is like that of other American towns, with more than 500 churches, first-rate community centers, parks, and playgrounds.

1 Chinatown Plaza
With pagoda-style roofs, a traditional Chinese entrance gate, and a statue of the mythical monk Tripitaka, with his companions – a pig, a soldier, and a monkey – Chinatown Plaza offers a delightful blend of East and West. Stores specialize in both American and Eastern necessities and Asian luxuries. Chinese music wafts through the covered walkways (a misting system keeps shoppers cool in summer). Good stops include Valley Oriental Arts and Crafts and Chinatown Florist. Not surprisingly, this is the place to come for the best Asian cuisine in town. 4 Nevada State Museum and Historical Society
The Nevada State Museum system is one of the best in the United States, and this Las Vegas branch is well deserving of a visit. The emphasis is on the anthropology and natural history of southern Nevada, with dioramas containing stuffed examples of regional wildlife such as a mountain lion a young bighorn sheep, a cougar, a bobcat, and a roadrunner. On a totally different subject, head for the excellent Cowboy Up! exhibition, which charts more than 100 years of rodeo history. Temporary displays include items such as Indian baskets, fiber arts, and saddle blankets.

Casinos Beyond the Neon

Although for the past 30 years Las Vegas has been a sprawling city with shopping centers and clusters of businesses in the various neighborhoods, almost all of the hotel/casinos were concentrated in two areas – downtown and along the Strip. In the 1980s, when the city's population began its explosive growth, a number of neighborhood hotel/casinos were built. Visitors who venture beyond the neon for gaming may be pleasantly surprised to find a friendly atmosphere and lovely surroundings (see p88).

Morning

Begin with an early morning stroll around the UNLV campus, stopping at the Marjorie Barrick Museum.

Drive through the Green Valley area to Foxridge Park (see p85) where if children are in your party, the play equipment will be the main attraction. Then it's on to the Ethel M. Chocolate Factory for the free tour and walk around the cactus garden.

On the way back to your hotel, lunch at one of the terrace tables around the interactive fountains at Green Valley Center (see p66). You'll have the afternoon free, but if it's Friday, don't miss the Henderson Farmers Market. Or, if traffic is not too heavy, you can take a second excursion.

Afternoon

Begin at the Nevada State Museum and Historical Society (see p85). Motor-racing fans should then make their next stop at the Las Vegas Speedway.

Finish up at Chinatown Plaza (see p85), where the herbalist health-food shop is a repository for remedies such as dried sea horses (good for the kidneys).

After an hour or two shopping, head up to the second floor of the Plaza, where you have a choice of different Asian restaurants for dining. Among them are Pho Vietnam Restaurant, Kapit Bahay Filipino Fast Food, Sam Woo BBQ, and Mother's Grill.

Lake Mead, Hoover Dam, and Laughlin

THE HOOVER DAM, MOST ASSUREDLY, changed the face of the American West. Not only did it enable the production of vast amounts of electrical energy and establish a reliable water source, but it also eliminated flooding, to help agriculture in California's lower valleys. The project's commercial by-products in Nevada – Lake Mead, Boulder City, and the resort community of Laughlin – have infused billions of dollars into the state's economy and provided recreational opportunities for hundreds of millions of visitors.

Hoover Dam Tour

1 Hoover Dam Tour

Self-guided tours lead to six points around the dam, where guides give short talks on the dam's history and construction. The Bureau of Reclamation opened an impressive $125 million visitor center and parking lot in 1995. The three-level, circular center includes a rooftop overlook, a rotating theater, and a gallery. Here you can learn the fascinating story of the settlement of the lower Colorado River valley and find out about the amazing technology involved in the production and distribution of hydroelectric power. (See also p10.) ☎ Visitor Center, Hoover Dam • 702 494 2517 • Tour reservations 866 291 TOUR

2 Boulder City Historic District

It's worth including Boulder City on a Hoover Dam trip to appreciate the scale of work involved – the city was built as a model community to house dam construction workers. The grandest buildings are the Bureau of Reclamation and the Bureau of Power and Light; the Municipal Building; and the Boulder Dam Hotel. Most of the construction, however, was focused on the two- and three-room houses for the workers. (See also p11.) ☎ Information from Hoover Dam Museum • Hwy 93 at Lakeshore Rd • 702 294 1988

3 Boulder City/ Hoover Dam Museum

Built in 1933, the Dutch Colonial-style Boulder Dam Hotel now houses the Boulder City/Hoover Dam Museum. Actor Boris Karloff and other Hollywood stars stayed in the hotel's glory days, and Crown Prince Olav and Princess Martha of Norway hosted a party here in 1939. The out-of-town hotel declined in the postwar rise of Las Vegas as a tourist mecca, but, since the mid-90s, a group of volunteers has set about rehabilitating it. The museum itself includes memorabilia from the 1930s. (See also p11.)

4 Lake Mead National Recreation Area

After the completion of the Hoover Dam in 1935, the waters of the Colorado River filled the deep canyons that once towered above the river to create a huge reservoir. This lake, with its 700 miles (1,120 km) of shoreline, is the centerpiece of Lake Mead National Recreation Area, a 2,300-sq mile (6,000-sq km) tract of land. ☎ Information from Alan Bible Visitor Center • Hwy 93 at Lakeshore Rd • 702 293 8990 • www.nps.gov/lame

The Laughlin Story

Don Laughlin opened his four-unit motel and bar with about a dozen slot machines on the banks of the Colorado River in the same week in 1966 as the opulent Caesars Palace opened in Las Vegas. Laughlin town (named by the postmaster in 1977) is now Nevada's third busiest gambling destination – outranked only by Las Vegas and Reno.

5 Lake Mead Marinas and Beaches

Along many miles of varied shoreline, Lake Mead's marinas and beaches range from delightful tiny coves to long stretches of sand. Popular beaches include Boulder Beach, Callville Bay, Echo Bay, and Overton Beach. These have recreational vehicle sites with full hookups, and supplies at nearby stores. Boxcar and Icebox coves are favorites with houseboaters. Callville Bay and Lake Mead marinas are close to Hoover Dam, while Temple Bar marina serves the lake's southeast reaches. Information from Alan Bible Visitor Center • 702 293 8990

6 Laughlin's Casino Row

The establishments lining Laughlin's South Casino Drive

Echo Bay, Lake Mead

Casino Row, Laughlin

may not be as dazzling as those along the Las Vegas Strip, but they offer extremely good value. Getting around is easier than in Las Vegas: a riverside promenade connects most of the casinos, or you can take a bus or shuttle boat. Tours of the Colorado are also available. 90 miles (145 km) S. of Las Vegas • www.enjoylaughlin.com

7 Lake Mojave

The 67-mile (107-km) long lake extends from below Hoover Dam to 2 miles (3.5 km) north of Laughlin, and is only 4 miles (6.5 km) at its widest. A National Park Service Visitor Center at Katharine Landing, just north of Laughlin, offers free guided walks by park rangers. These lead through the desert to the petroglyphs at Grapevine Canyon. Houseboats, pontoon rentals, and fishing tackle are available at Katharine Landing and Cottonwood Cove. Record-size striped bass have been caught in Lake Mojave. Part of Lake Mead National Recreation Area • Admission fee to park • www.nps.gov/lame

8 Petroglyphs near Laughlin

Christmas Tree Pass and Grapevine Canyon, just west of Laughlin on Hwy 163, are the best places to see the fascinating petroglyphs incised into the cliffs of the canyons by the early Patayan group.

The line drawings and symbols may have served as the road maps of their day, directing hunters and fishermen. National Park Service personnel have located more than 150 Patayan camp sites between Davis Dam and Willow Beach, which is 10 miles (16 km) from the base of Hoover Dam. ## Two Days at the Dam and Laughlin

Day One

Begin with early morning coffee at Railroad Pass Casino on Hwy 93, an old-timer among gambling dens. Afterward, continue on Hwy 93 to the historic Boulder City and Hoover Dam (see p93) for the amazing tour.

Go back along Hwy 93 to the junction with Hwy 95 and turn south toward Laughlin. Stop at the Nugget in Searchlight (see p96) for lunch and the chance to visit a typical small-town Nevada casino.

For a more picturesque route, turn off 95 and head east on the dirt road through Christmas Tree Pass. Spend the remainder of the day in Laughlin, perhaps hunting for bargains at the 50-store Horizon Discount Outlet.

Overnight at Harrah's (see p97) or another hotel along the river, and be sure to take an evening stroll along the promenade.

Day Two

Early next morning, golfers can tee off at the 18-hole Emerald River Golf Course. Alternatively, the River-view Golf Course is just across the river in Bullhead City, Arizona.

Later, head for Oatman, an old-time western town about a half-hour's drive southeast from Bullhead City. In the afternoon drive back north to Lake Mojave. Be sure to make time to see the mysterious petroglyphs at Grapevine Canyon, off Hwy 163, before returning to your hotel in Laughlin.

Parks and Preserves

LESS THAN AN HOUR from the man-made extravaganzas and simulations of the Strip are natural wonders so dramatic and thrilling that humans could not begin to replicate them. Many of these wonders are geological.

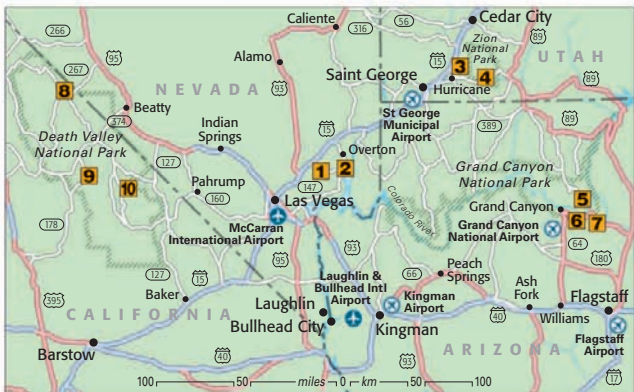

The closest is Red Rock Canyon (see pp24–5). Also nearby are Zion National Park, with its fantastic rock formations, and Death Valley – the hottest place in North America – whose floor lies 282 ft (85 m) below sea level, making it the lowest elevation in the western hemisphere. Most famous is undoubtedly Grand Canyon, whose dimensions are breathtaking. Each region has its distinct flora and fauna, with some species found nowhere else on Earth.

1 Petroglyph Canyon, Valley of Fire

Petroglyph Canyon is the Valley of Fire's most popular attraction, carrying as it does the park's largest concentration of petroglyphs – primarily symbols incised by prehistoric Native Americans from the Lost City (see below). The purpose of the petroglyphs is unclear: some may have been no more than the road signs of their day, while others might have had a religious or mystical significance. Trail markers point out interesting sites along the way. Map U2

2 Lost City Museum of Archeology, Overton

Artifacts salvaged from Pueblo Grande de Nevada – now known as the Lost City – before it was inundated by Lake Mead are displayed at this pueblo-style museum. Exhibits include a reconstruction of the village, hunting weapons, and pottery.

3 Kolob Reservoir Road, Zion National Park

• Information from Zion Canyon Visitor Center, Hwy 9, nr Springdale • 435 772 3256

4 Zion Canyon

This makes for another splendid scenic drive, ending at the Temple of Sinawava. Of special interest is a mass of debris caused by a landslide 4,000 years ago. If you can stay, head for Zion Lodge (see also p107), and, if you have no air-conditioning, gaze longingly at the shady groves of cottonwood, velvet ash, and box elder. Near the end of the drive is a turning that affords excellent views of the Great White Throne.

6 Yavapai Observation Station, South Rim, Grand Canyon

For a visual introduction to Grand Canyon geology, you can scarcely beat the view from Yavapai Observation Station. Look down to the canyon floor for views of the Phantom Ranch lodge and the Colorado River. The river flows along the bottom of the canyon, no less than 5,000 ft (1,500 m) below the rim. From this great height it doesn't look very threatening, even with binoculars, but from the canyon floor it's a wildly impressive sight. 📍 5 miles (8 km) N of south entrance • Map V2 • Open 8am–8pm

7 The Watchtower, Desert View, Grand Canyon

A fanciful recreation of an Ancestral Pueblo, this landmark structure was designed by regional architect Mary Colter in 1932. The upper floor of the stone-built tower is decorated with Hopi murals. A gift store and refreshments are available. Other Colter designs in the area include Hopi House, Hermit's Rest, the Lookout Studio, and the cabins at Phantom Ranch lodge. 📍 On Hwy 64 at Desert View • Map V2 • General information www.nps.gov/deva • Free

Ancient Rocks

The Grand Canyon reveals more of the earth's geological history than anywhere else on the planet (some of its rocks may be 1.7 billion years old). The mesas and cliffs of Zion National Park, too, were laid down and sculpted by the elements over millions of years. The youngster, Death Valley, has become visible only in relatively recent times: the lake that once filled it dried up a mere 10,000 years ago.

8 Scotty's Castle, Death Valley

Less of a castle than a Mediterranean-style mansion, the main man-made visitor attraction at Death Valley was built in the 1920s by the Chicago insurance magnate Albert Johnson. But Wild West show cowboy and conman Walter Scott had a habit of bragging that the spread was his, and it came to be called Scotty's Castle after him. A nice twist to the tale is that, in his last years, Scott was befriended by Johnson and spent his last years at the coveted castle. Tours of the interior are available year round: fine craftsmanship is evident in the intricate wood carvings, wrought iron, and ornate tiling. It is possible to take a self-guided tour of the grounds. 📍 Hwy 267, at N. end of Death Valley • Map S1 • 760 786 2392 • Grounds 7am–5:30pm daily, guided tours hourly • Admission fee

Dante's View, Death Valley

Kolob Reservoir Road

9 Aguerberry Point, Death Valley

High in the Panamint Mountains, the point offers panoramic views across most of Death Valley, taking in Furnace Creek, the snow-capped Sierra Nevada, Devil's Golf Course, and other landmarks. The point is accessible by mountain bike, but you'll need excellent bike-handling skills to make the climb; there is a 13-mile (21-km) loop ride for those who want to try it. 📍 Map S2

• Information from Furnace Creek Visitor Center • 760 786 2331 • Open 8am–5pm

10 Dante's View, Death Valley

On the crest of the Black Mountains, this is one of the most spectacular overlooks in Death Valley. It is approximately 5,475 ft (1,668 m) above the Badwater salt flats – the lowest point in Death Valley – and is a wonderful place for watching sunrise. The name was inspired by Dante's Inferno. 📍 Dante's View Rd, 25 miles (40 km) S. of Furnace Creek • Map S2

Three Trips from Vegas

Although it is possible to visit Zion, Grand Canyon, and Death Valley in one trip, it makes more sense geographically to return to Las Vegas in between each place, making three separate excursions.

The Road to Zion

📍 For an overnight trip to remember, drive east on Highway 15 to the Valley of Fire turning. Spend an hour or two on the park's scenic drive, hiking through Petroglyph Canyon (See p99) to Mouse's Tank and visiting the Lost City Museum of Archeology (See p99). Then, back on Highway 15, proceed to Mesquite for lunch, making sure you are within reach of one of Zion's many viewpoints by sunset: you will be richly rewarded. Overnight in the park or at Springdale.

Grand Canyon

Take Highway 93 to Kingman, then Highways 40 and 64 to the national park. It is possible to view much of the canyon's grandeur by driving along the rim routes, but the total canyon experience involves hiking or riding to the valley floor, spending the night, and perhaps river-rafting. For insights into Native American culture, visit one of the reservations along the rim.

Death Valley

Starting out from Las Vegas again, head northwest on Highway 95 to Beatty, turning off on Highway 374. You can see the major sights easily in a day and a half, but if you wish to hike or golf, you'll want to allocate more time to the trip.

TOP 10 Local Flora and Fauna

1 Pine Forests
Dense forests of scrubby piñon pine, stunted by poor, dry soil, grow 6,500 ft (2,000 m) above sea level in Grand Canyon (the canyon's highest elevation is 9,000 ft, or 2,750 m). Once every seven years they produce bumper crops of edible nuts.

2 Wildflowers
Grand Canyon wildflowers include asters, sunflowers, globemallow, and Indian paintbrush. At Zion, look out for columbine, penstemon, Indian paintbrush, and many varieties of sunflowers. Death Valley has fewer species, but Panamint daisies grow in profusion.

3 Sagebrush
The Nevada state flower is found up to 10,000 ft (3,000 m) above sea level and grows as tall as seven feet (2 m). The dense clusters of tiny yellow or cream flowers bloom in late summer.

4 Birds of Prey
Red-tailed hawks are the most common predatory birds in all three parks, but at the Grand Canyon look out for the king of the skies, the golden eagle.

5 Tortoises
Two isolated populations of desert tortoise, the Mojave and the Sonoran, are found respectively in southern Utah and in the Grand Canyon, Death Valley, and other parts of the southwest.

6 Lizards
In Zion eastern fence lizards are among 13 local species, while chuckwallas, short-horned, and collared lizards all inhabit the Grand Canyon. Most common in Death Valley is the banded lizard.

Golden Eagle

7 Mountain Lions
These shy creatures roam the Grand Canyon, Zion, and the mountains around Death Valley, helping to control the small mammal populations.

8 Deer
The unmistakable stiff-legged jump and large ears of the mule deer distinguish it through your binoculars from its graceful relative, the white-tail deer.

9 Snakes
Most species in the parks are harmless, but give rattlesnakes and sidewinders a wide berth.

10 Bears
Black bears are occasionally seen on the higher plateaus at Zion, but both they and grizzlies have long since disappeared from the Grand Canyon area, and no bears are known to live in the mountains surrounding Death Valley.

2 Elephant Rock, Valley of Fire

3 Temple of Sinawava, Zion National Park
The so-called temple is, in fact, an awe-inspiring mass of red rock. The religious name echoes many others in the park. Map V1

4 Great White Throne, Zion National Park
The sheer face of the Great White Throne, familiar to climbers worldwide, rises a staggering 2,200 ft (670 m) from the canyon floor, making it one of the world's tallest monoliths. Map V1

5 Kolob Arch, Zion National Park
Kolob Arch is too inaccessible to permit accurate measurements of its bulk, but it is thought to be as much as 230 ft high and 310 ft wide (70 m x 95 m). Map V1

6 Marble Canyon, Grand Canyon
The confluence of the Little Colorado and Colorado Rivers has carved out the great Marble

Canyon (which is also a great place for trout fishing). Map V2

7 Inner Gorge, Grand Canyon
Sheer granite cliffs drop 1,000 feet (300 m) to the canyon floor to form this vertiginous gorge. Two nerve-testing suspension bridges make the crossing near Phantom Ranch. Map V2

8 San Francisco Mountains, Grand Canyon
Named the “Kingdom of St. Francis” by explorer Marcos de Nizo, the range rises to an impressive 12,655 ft (3,857 m). Map V2

9 Funeral Mountains, Death Valley
A geological fault line was responsible for tilting these spectacular mountains on their sides. Map S1

TOP 10 Hiking Trails

1 Mouse's Tank, Valley of Fire
 "Mouse" was the name of a Native American outlaw. The moderately easy, self-guiding trail to Mouse's Tank (a series of natural catchments) passes the best petroglyphs in the park.

2 Canyon Overlook Trail, Zion National Park
 A moderate, short day-hike to the overlook, which is right above the Great Arch.

3 Observation Point – Hidden Canyon Trail, Zion
 The 7.5-mile (12-km) round-trip hike is moderately difficult to Hidden Canyon, then strenuous to Observation Point, but the view from the point is the park's finest.

4 Riverside Walk, Zion
 The paved walk at the base of a gorge is especially delightful in early October when the fall foliage is at its most beautiful.

5 Bright Angel Trail, Grand Canyon
 The entire 19-mile (30-km) down-and-back round-trip descends 4,400 ft (1,342 m) and takes most hikers two days. Rest houses and a campground on the route.

6 Rim Trail, Grand Canyon
 Extending from the Village area, the partially paved trail can be accessed at many points along Hermit Road and its terminus at Mather Point. Little elevation change and great views.

7 South Kaibab Trail, Grand Canyon
 Access to the trailhead is by shuttle bus. The steep trail descends 4,500 ft (1,372 m), with no water along the down-and back 14-mile (22-km) route.

8 Wildrose Canyon to Wildrose Peak, Death Valley
 A 4-mile (6-km) climb through woodland to the crest of the Panamint Mountains. Superb views.

9 Golden Canyon to Zabriskie Point, Death Valley
 A low-elevation, 6-mile (9.5-km) round-trip hike featuring the finest badlands scenery in the monument, and traversing an area of fully exposed rock strata that represents millions of years.

10 Coffin Peak Trail, Death Valley
 This easy trail starts at Dante's View, following a canyon into the Black Mountains. Vegetation is dominated by mormon tea, shadscale, and spiny desert shrubs.

LAS VEGAS TOP 10

Left Golfing holiday Right Summer sun

TOP 10 What to Pack and When to Go

1 Rate Changes

Hotel rates skyrocket when the weather is best – from about mid-March through July and September until the first part of November. However, days can be close to perfect during February and November when rates are generally lower and there is less traffic and smaller crowds. Las Vegas Casino hotels offer lower rates on weekdays, with rates soaring at weekends and during conventions.

2 Tee-Timing

It's easier for golfers to get tee times during the winter months, March, and November. Although it can be windy, the temperature is usually comfortable for playing.

3 Consider Convention Dates

The three biggest annual conventions in Las Vegas, in November, April, and January, each attract well over 100,000 delegates. Do your utmost not to coincide with them: not only will room rates be at their highest, but traffic is heavy, and the lines waiting for restaurant service are daunting.

4 Daytime Wear

As far as clothes are concerned, just about anything goes. Although shorts and T-shirts are the uniform in very hot weather, you'll see people wearing everything from designer resort wear to jeans and leather jackets the rest of the year. Bathing attire should be reserved for swimming pool areas. Women wear cover-ups and men generally wear shirts and shorts over their bathing suits when going between their rooms and the pool. Upscale hotels provide robes for guests' use.

5 After Dark Apparel

While comfort generally rules the dress code, some moderately priced restaurants have signs saying "No shoes, no shirts, no service." Sport coats (casual-styled jackets) are required at some of the more expensive restaurants, but neckties are not always a requisite. Most people dress up when going to production shows or nightclubs; Las Vegas residents tend to dress more formally (and flamboyantly) than visitors.

6 Health Matters

The sun shines an average of more than 300 days a year, so pack colored glasses, sunscreen, lip balm, moisturizer, and a hat.

7 Weather Wise

Keep in mind more than just the glorious sunshine: Las Vegas receives an average of only 4.21 inches of rainfall a year, with about half an inch falling during the wettest months, January and August. Humidity ranges from 14 percent to 41 percent. Winter is unpredictable: some days are very cold and windy, while others are warm enough for wearing shorts.

8 US Entry Requirements for Canadian Visitors

Canadians do need passports, and must show a photo I.D., such as a citizenship card, when entering the USA.

9 US Entry Requirements for Overseas Visitors

Citizens from Australia, New Zealand, Japan, Germany, France, the UK, and many other European countries can visit the USA for up to 90 days without a visa, so long as they have a valid passport. They will need to register and pay a fee at <https://esta.cbp.dhs.gov> prior to departure. Visitors from countries who do need a visa must apply to a US consulate or embassy, and may be asked for evidence of financial solvency and proof that they intend to return to their country of origin.

10 US Customs

Adult nonresidents are permitted to bring in a limited amount of duty-free goods. These include 0.2 gallons (1 liter) of alcohol, 200 cigarettes, 50 cigars (but not Cuban), and up to $100 worth of gifts. Cash amounts over $10,000 should be declared on entry.

TOP 10 Arriving in Las Vegas

1 Air News

If you're among the 43 percent of Las Vegas visitors who fly to McCarran International Airport, check out the airport website for information and maps. The fifth busiest airport in the USA can be confusing when you don't know your way around.

2 Comparison Shopping

McCarran is served by all major US carriers and several international carriers, including Virgin Atlantic and British Airways, with both scheduled and charter flights. It's worth comparing prices thoroughly before making your reservation.

3 Fly-Drive and Gambling Deals

Fly-drive packages are a firm favorite with people on vacation in the USA. Investigate the so-called "Gamblers' Specials," too, which combine air travel and accommodation in Las Vegas.

4 Getting from the Airport to the City

The airport is 2.5 miles (4 km) south of the city center. Allow 10 minutes to travel by road between the airport and hotels on the Strip. Taxis, shuttles, and limousines wait outside the airport, and there are car rental agencies inside. The cheapest option is to take a bus: the CAT

(Citizens Area Transit) bus routes 108 and 109 run between the airport, downtown, and the Strip.

5 Paying Fares

If you have forgotten to bring enough change for transportation between the airport and your hotel, cash machines (ATMs) are located throughout the airport, and these accept standard cards such as Visa, MasterCard, and American Express, as well as other major US cards.

6 Car Rental

If you are renting a car from the airport, be advised that the rental price may not include three taxes, which total 39.8 percent, charged on all airport car rentals. If you are in a hurry, use one of the rental agencies with counters at the airport, but bear in mind that agencies with off-site counters generally charge lower rates.

7 Car Rental Documents

Visitors who plan to rent a car must remember to bring along a valid driver's license and major credit card, both of which are required by all agencies. Drivers must also be at least 25 years old to rent a car. If your own automobile insurance does not cover rental vehicles, it is wise to buy the rental companies' own coverage.

8 Road Rules

Visitors from abroad who plan to rent automobiles would be well advised to familiarize themselves with basic US driving rules and signage before they begin driving. Information is available at most vehicle-rental agencies.

9 Arriving by Road

If you are driving to Las Vegas from another part of the USA, you'll probably access the city either via I-15, which goes from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City, Utah, and beyond, or via I-95, which connects Washington, Oregon, Nevada, and Arizona. Try to avoid peak traffic times on these roads: arrive before 4pm or after 7pm.

10 Arriving by Train and Bus

Visitors who wish to travel to Las Vegas by train and bus can take the Amtrak Chief to Los Angeles then transfer to the Amtrak bus service, which arrives at the Las Vegas Greyhound Station. For timetable and ticket information telephone 1 800 872 7245 or visit www.amtrak.com

TOP 10 Getting Around

1 Foot Power

Walking may well be the best way to travel the three-mile-long Strip: the sidewalks are wide and the terrain is flat. Since the city covers a large area, however, and is crisscrossed by multi-lane streets, you'll need a car or public transportation when visiting attractions in outlying areas.

2 Finding Your Routes

If you are going to be driving, procure a good map (the Rand McNally map, which can be obtained at supermarkets, drugstores, and booksellers, is excellent). The city is laid out on a grid, with only a few principal thoroughfares running obliquely.

3 Traffic Talk

In town, be prepared for fast driving and heavy traffic. Avoid driving during rush hours (about 7–9 am and 4–7pm). Congestion on the Strip begins in late morning and continues until after midnight, especially on weekends from mid-March through October and when large special events take place. The city's major streets are six to eight lanes wide.

4 Parking Lots and Garages

Hotel/casinos on the Strip and in Glitter Gulch provide free parking in high-rise garages. Elsewhere they have huge parking lots and/or garages. Almost all hotels offer valet parking. When valet parking is full, preference is given to hotel guests over casino visitors.

5 On-street Parking

When parking on the street, be sure to read all posted signs about parking restrictions to avoid incurring fines or having your vehicle towed away. Fines for parking in disability-reserved spaces without a valid placard range from $100 to as much as $1,000.

6 Taxis

Hotel entrances on the Strip and downtown are the best places to find cabs. The standard fare includes an initial fee of $3.30, plus $2.20 for each additional mile, and about $0.20 a minute when stopped at a red light or stalled in traffic. In heavy traffic it can cost more than $20 to go from one end of the Strip to the other. Since taxi drivers know the city's less busy streets, a useful tip is to ask to be taken the quickest way rather than the shortest.

7 Trams and Monorail

Free trams connect TI with the Mirage and the Excalibur with Luxor and Mandalay Bay. There is also a tram that runs from the Bellagio and Monte Carlo to the Crystals Retail and Entertainment District at CityCenter. The monorail operates along the Strip between MGM Grand and Sahara (8am–midnight daily). A one-ride ticket costs $5.

8 Public Transit System

The least expensive way to travel beyond downtown and the Strip is by CAT bus (Citizens Area Transit); CAT has an extensive network of routes. Ace and Deuce lines run along the Strip. Fares are $2 on main tourist routes, $1.25 on others; seniors and children aged 6 to 17 pay $0.60).

9 Hotel Shuttles

You may have to pay for the shuttle service between the airport and some hotels, but others offer a free service to shopping areas and sight-seeing destinations.

10 Bike Riding

Bicycling along main arteries is not advised, but riding through residential neighborhoods and at Red Rock Canyon can be nice. Bikes can be rented from various outlets; fees usually include helmets and water bottles.

3 Ethnic Affairs

Information about Las Vegas's various ethnic businesses and attractions is available from such organizations as the Asian Chamber of Commerce, Black Chamber of Commerce, and Latin Chamber of Commerce.

4 Organization Information

If you belong to a worldwide organization such as Rotary International or would like to meet people with similar vocational interests or hobbies, your best source of information is an Internet search engine such as www.google.com or www.yahoo.com.

5 Magazine Information

For insights into places and people, pick up Las Vegas Magazine, also known as LVM. This weekly magazine (right) is aimed at visitors and is available at hotels. It contains feature articles as well as information on nightlife, shopping, gaming, and attractions.

6 Newspaper News

The Las Vegas Review Journal publishes dining and entertainment news throughout the week, as well as a "Best of Las Vegas" section once a year in March. You'll learn a lot by reading the ads, too!

7 Internet Info

For information on airlines, rental cars, and accommodations, use your favorite search engine to find websites with a Las Vegas focus. One of the most useful sites of the many available is www.visitlasvegas.com.

8 Cost Cutting

Bargain hunters will save money by subscribing to the Las Vegas Advisor. This monthly newsletter, aimed primarily at people who like to gamble, includes accommodation and dining deals that are also of use to non-gamblers.

9 Tourist Stations

The tourist stations along the Strip not only sell commercial tours, but they also have display racks containing promotional material about various attractions, which may be of use to you.

10 Out-of-Town Source

People traveling to Las Vegas via I-15 south manage to find special offers and deals that don't seem to be advertised anywhere else: the tourist information center in Jean, Nevada (near the border with California) has a reputation for handling the best Las Vegas coupons.

TOP 10 Shopping Tips

1 Shopping Arcades

Count on finding the most interesting upscale shopping in hotel arcades such as Miracle Mile at Planet Hollywood (see p52), Bellagio's Via Bellagio (see pp14–15), and Appian Way at Caesars Palace (see pp26–7). All these are on Las Vegas Boulevard South, otherwise known as the Strip.

2 Malls

You have several choices for major mall-hopping. Boulevard, Meadows, and the Galleria at Sunset (see p52) are patronized primarily by locals, while tourists form the majority at two upscale malls on the Strip – the Forum Shops at Caesars (see pp26–7) and Fashion Show Mall (see p52). The best sales at upscale shops such as Neiman Marcus and Saks Fifth Avenue (both at Fashion Show Mall) are held in January.

3 Bargain Buys

For bargains in high-quality merchandise, seek out the factory outlet centers. Las Vegas Outlet Center (see pp53 & 91) is just a few minutes south of the Strip, while Fashion Outlet Las Vegas is near the California border at Primm. It is especially worth visiting these stores at the end of summer, when the merchandise is marked down even further.

4 Antiques

The city's greatest concentration of antiques stores is on East Charleston Boulevard, two miles or so from downtown. If you have time to visit only one cluster of stores, go to Antique Square (2014–2026 E. Charleston Boulevard), where a dozen different shops make up the complex.

5 Ethnic Shops

For the best authentic ethnic shopping, go to the stores that serve Las Vegas's various ethnic populations such as Asian Market (953 E. Sahara), Supermercado del Pueblo #2 (4972 S. Maryland Parkway), India Sweets & Spices (953 E. Sahara Avenue), Ethiopian Market (252 Convention Center Drive), and those in Chinatown Plaza (see pp85 & 91).

6 Swap Meets

Swap meets, or flea markets, are usually held on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, and are a great place to browse for bargains. The biggest meets are Fantastic

Indoor Swap Meet (see p91) and Broadacres Open Air Swap Meet (2960 Las Vegas Boulevard N.).

7 Pawn Shops

If you've never visited a pawn shop, Las Vegas is your chance. Much of the merchandise comes, of course, from gamblers in search of that little bit more money. The largest operation in town is Super Pawn, with 18 outlets. A group of pawn shops are located in a street near Glitter Gulch (see p80). If you want to make a purchase, don't agree to pay the first price you're quoted. Maybe not the second or third, either!

8 Business Hours

The larger malls and arcades are generally open 10am–9pm, seven days a week. Elsewhere stores may be closed on Sunday. Some of the Forum shops at Caesars stay open until midnight.

9 Taxes

Clark County levies an 8.2 percent "sales and use" tax on most goods. This is added to purchases at the cash register.

10 Credit Cards

Most businesses accept Visa and MasterCard. American Express, Diners, and other cards are not accepted as widely; travelers' checks in US dollars are accepted at many stores.

TOP 10 Ways to Save Money

1 Planning Ahead

Start planning early – the best airfares may require three months' advance purchase.

2 Airline Deals from Other Parts of the USA

Combined air and hotel packages from most US cities to Las Vegas are especially good bargains. Keep in mind that airline fares to hub cities served by a number of carriers are almost always less expensive than routes on which there are few competing airlines.

3 Airline Deals from Other Countries

When Las Vegas is among two or more destinations you plan to visit in the USA, price each segment of your trip's airfare separately. Visitors from Europe, for example, often save money by buying round-trip tickets from their home country to New York or Chicago and then traveling in the USA by using a combination of one-way bargain air tickets and rental cars.

4 Timing

Time your trip to save money. Hotel rates change from day to day, based on supply and demand. They're most expensive on weekends, holidays, and during big conventions and important events. The less restricted your travel dates, the more money you can save: a room that costs $300 a night on a busy May weekend can go for $110 in November. Airfares are usually lower during the winter months, too.

5 Car Rentals

Car-rental rates change even more rapidly – sometimes hourly. Since rental reservations don't require a credit-card guarantee, lock in a reservation when you're quoted a good price. You can always cancel it later if you find a better deal.

6 Freebie Sources

When you arrive in the city, go directly to the information center run by the Las Vegas Convention & Visitors Authority (see p115). Collect all the free magazines and brochures you can comfortably carry. Inside are coupons for special offers and money off shows and dinners, etc.

7 Meal Cost-Cutting

Eat your big meal of the day at noon. Lunch buffets usually cost a few dollars less than those offered at night, with virtually the same food served at both. If you're an early bird or a night owl, you'll save money on food: several casinos – notably those downtown and in outlying areas – offer low-cost meals between 11pm and 6 or 7am. These also work well for visitors affected by jet lag.

8 Discount Shopping

If you want to save money traveling to and from the shops, take the Deuce from the Strip, and transfer to the C-Line Bus. You can also transfer to the free shuttle that goes to Las Vegas Premium Outlet (see p83). The bus will cost a couple of dollars each way.

9 Entertainment Savings

The extravagant nightly light and sound shows and street performances at the Fremont Street Experience (see p79) are all free. Many of the big hotels along the Strip put on spectacular free shows to entice people in (see p76). There are also less well-publicized free attractions such as the Wildlife Habitat at the Flamingo Las Vegas, with more than 300 birds. People-watching is entertaining, too (see p77).

10 Free Special Events

Every so often, casinos put on promotions, bands present concerts, and organizations sponsor other free events. These are listed in the calendar sections of local papers and the various free entertainment magazines.

Left The Mirage dolphin habitat Center Excalibur Right Cirque du Soleil at Bellagio

TOP 10 Types of Entertainment

1 Production Shows

Plan to see at least one production show (long-running show with spectacular production effects) while you're in town. A Las Vegas visit simply isn't complete without experiencing the excitement and professionalism of these top-notch performances. Although shows such as "O" and Bette Midler are expensive, others that cost less than half of their prices are also very well done.

2 Showtime

Most big shows go on twice nightly, with one or two nights off a week (varying from show to show). Daytime shows usually cost less.

3 Dining Options

Although most shows don't include meals or cocktails (there are refreshment stands outside most theaters), some hotels still feature dinner and cocktail shows. If you can, opt for the cocktail shows: they're less expensive. Moreover, the food at dinner shows doesn't tend to get rave reviews.

4 Other Shows

The production spectaculars aren't the only shows in town. Other long-running shows in hotel/casino theaters star magicians, comedians, and impersonators. Comedians on their way up also appear on Las Vegas comedy club stages.

5 Headliner Shows

If you're determined to see a particular entertainer perform in one of the city's famous headliner extravaganzas, order your tickets as soon as you hear about the performance. If you hesitate, you will probably still be able to buy tickets, but they will most likely be for the poorest seats in the priciest category. Las Vegas is a venue where top entertainers typically present just one performance; while the least expensive tickets may cost less than $100, top tickets can cost more than $1,000.

6 Lounge Shows

To stretch your entertainment dollars, take in a lounge show or two. You can watch some lounge acts for the price of a drink. Others are free.

7 Future Stars

If you like to know about the newest, most potentially hot acts, then go to see lots of lounge shows. Many of America's most celebrated entertainers – including Elvis Presley – appeared in Las Vegas casino lounges on their way to the top.

8 Chance Entertainment

In a town where entertainment is the name of the game, most Las Vegas visitors happen upon some unexpected treat during their visit. It may be a Dixieland band playing in a hotel plaza, a dance recital at a shopping center, a string quartet playing in a park, or strolling entertainers at the theme hotels.

9 Adults Only

Several clubs in the area around West Sahara Street south of downtown present adult-only entertainment. With names like Crazy Horse Saloon, Sapphire, and Palomino Club, they feature topless or nude waitresses, amateur strip contests, and "beautiful friendly hostess dancers."

10 Culture

High culture doesn't necessarily come to mind when one thinks of Las Vegas. It is, in fact, the city's best-kept entertainment secret. Top-drawer artists from around the world perform regularly here: Luciano Pavarotti has sung at the Mandalay Bay; top orchestras and ballet troupes can be seen at the university. In addition, performers in the Las Vegas shows take part in actors equity, ballet, and musical productions when not in their regular roles.

TOP 10 Tips on Buying Tickets

1 Advance Bookings

To avoid disappointment, order tickets for any production shows you want to see well in advance. You can do this either through your travel agent, by contacting the box office directly (when the production is at a hotel/casino theater, you can phone the hotel and your call will be transferred), or through a ticket agency such as Ticketmaster.

It is almost impossible for ordinary tourists to buy tickets to the top shows such as "O" and Mystère on the day of the performance even if they are staying in the hotel where the show is playing.

2 Discount Tickets

Surplus same-day tickets for shows are sold at a discount at Tix4Tonight at Hawaiian Marketplace, outside Fashion Show Mall, just south of the Riviera, the Four Queens hotel, and near the giant Coke bottle north of MGM Grand.

3 Standby

When you want to see a show and can't get tickets in advance, you will increase your chances of getting standby seats by arriving early so you get one of the first places in line.

4 VIPs

If you're a high roller, you probably won't have to worry about standing in line at shows or anywhere else. Just let the VIP desk know what you would like to see.

5 Charting Your Course

When it is possible, ask to see the theater's seating chart. It's probably true that in many theaters there isn't a bad seat in the house.

Still, some seats are better than others, and as long as they all cost the same price, it is worthwhile choosing the ones you want.

6 Tipping

Tipping the maitre d' or usher isn't always necessary. A growing number of theater tickets are issued electronically, and your seat is determined before you enter the theater. At theaters that have table-seating, however, guests are seated at the maitre d's discretion. Palming him a $20 bill will usually get better seats, but do it in a discreet way.

7 University Venue Tickets

Tickets for performances at the Judy Bayley Theater or Artemis Hamm Concert

Hall on the university campus can both be secured from the same box office; consult the Las Vegas Convention & Visitors Authority or local press for contact details.

8 Other Cultural Venues

Tickets for cultural programs presented at such venues as community arts centers and outdoor amphitheaters are usually, but not always, available from commercial ticket agencies including Ticketmaster. The yellow pages of the Las Vegas telephone directory list the numbers of various concert venue ticket offices.

9 Tour Group Tickets

People who are interested primarily in seeing Las Vegas shows should consult with their travel agents about tours that include them in their itineraries.

10 Ticket Information

If you have a problem finding ticket sources, try contacting the Las Vegas Convention & Visitors Authority (see p115). Another good resource is the newsroom of the city's major newspapers.

TOP 10 Getting Married in Las Vegas

1 Getting a License

Marriage license requirements in Nevada have traditionally been less stringent than those in other parts of the USA. No blood tests are needed, nor is it necessary, after the license has been issued, to wait a set period before getting married. To obtain a marriage license, both partners must appear at the County Clerk's office in the Clark County Courthouse. Well over 100,000 weddings are performed in Clark County each year.

2 Identity Proof

Be prepared to produce your social security number and proof of identity such as a driver's license, certified copy of birth certificate, passport, or military ID. Divorced applicants need evidence that their divorces have been finalized, including date, city, and state where the decree was granted.

3 Age of Consent

People aged 18 years and older do not need consent to get married, but those aged between 16 and 18 must either have a consenting parent present or else produce a notarized document from a parent giving his or her consent.

4 Time-Saver

Couples planning a St Valentine's Day or New Year's Eve wedding should get their licenses well in advance to avoid long lines at the County Clerk's office.

5 Wedding Officiants

Nevada law requires that couples be married by civil marriage commissioners, justices of the peace, or bona fide ministers.

6 Civil Ceremonies

Civil marriages are performed one block from the Courthouse in the office of the Commissioner of Civil Marriages, for a fee of $50. One witness is required in addition to the person performing the ceremony.

7 Religious Rules

If your decision to have a religious wedding in Las Vegas is not a spur of the moment one, then have your usual minister, priest, or rabbi contact the head of the church or synagogue in Las Vegas where you want the ceremony to be held. That way you can resolve any discrepancies that may exist between different denominations regarding preparation for marriage, publication of banns, and the like.

8 Prices

You need $60 – in cash – for the license. Budget $75 for the use of a wedding chapel in a no-frills ceremony, $50 for the minister, plus any flowers, music, or costume rental. Weddings featuring an Elvis impersonator as minister start at $200. Make arrangements for a wedding-chapel ceremony in advance: they can't oblige drop-ins when fully booked.

9 Venues

With more than four dozen chapels, hundreds of churches, synagogues, public parks, ballrooms, and scenic spots, the number of wedding venues is limited only by the imagination; some officiants may be unwilling to perform skydiving or helicopter ceremonies!

10 Same-Sex Ceremonies

Same-sex marriages are not recognized in Nevada, but the Gay Chapel of Las Vegas, part of Viva Las Vegas Wedding Chapel (see p50), performs commitment ceremonies.

TOP 10 Honeymoon Packages

1 Hotel Packages

Since honeymoon packages are offered by virtually all of the hotels in Las Vegas, it definitely pays to shop around. The basic packages usually include an upgraded room, a bottle of champagne with souvenir champagne flutes, optional breakfast in bed, and dinner at one of the hotel's restaurants.

2 Seasonal Price Variations

Whereas wedding licenses cost $55 year-round and chapel fees remain fairly constant (St Valentine's Day and New Year's Eve being exceptions), honeymoon package prices are affected by the dates you choose. For example, a week-long honeymoon during the annual giant Comdex convention, with its 225,000 delegates, may well cost two to four times what it might during the preceding or following week.

3 Bed-and-Breakfast Packages

If you fancy getting away from the crowds and bright lights, investigate bed-and-breakfast honeymoon packages and houseboat rentals (See also page 134).

4 Internet Deals

Explore your options on the Internet. Each major hotel has a website, as do many of the smaller ones. Most of these include information on package deals.

5 Do-It-Yourself

You may feel that rather than opt for a lavish package you can make your honeymoon more special by doing it yourself, finding a regular hotel package and adding your own romantic touches – a box of Ethel M. gourmet chocolates (produced in Las Vegas), dining at an intimate restaurant such as Pamplemousse (See p46) and seeing the shows you choose.

6 Accommodation Advice

As far as accommodations are concerned, the general rule is that the further away you are from the Strip, the less expensive the rooms. There are, however, deluxe exceptions to the rule, such as the posh J. W. Marriott Las Vegas, The Palms, and the romantic Loews Lake Las Vegas (see p37).

7 Professional Planning

Las Vegas Weddings has been arranging weddings and honeymoons in the city since 1973.

8 Trousseau Tip

Save some of your trousseau money for lingerie shopping in Las Vegas. The little nothings sold at places like Bare Essentials and Bad Attitude Boutique are definitely unusual!

9 Wedding Photos

10 Films

Honeymooners keen on the movies might find it fun to rent a copy of the 1991 Nicholas Cage comedy Honeymoon in Vegas, which is set in the city, to watch on the DVD in their honeymoon suite.

TOP 10 Slot Clubs

1 Join Up

If you're planning to gamble, join a slot club. Almost every casino has one, which anyone over the age of 21 can join for free. These clubs give players various rewards in relation to the amount of gambling they do, whether they win or lose.

2 Maximizing Benefits

Compare clubs to determine which one has the prizes you like best and the most advantageous point system. For example, while the number of points required for similar rewards may be the same at two clubs, one of them may award two points for every five dollars that goes through a machine while the other requires only one dollar. You can join as many clubs as you like, but experts advise that you join only one so that you accumulate enough points to earn rewards.

3 Playing Cards

Insert your plastic membership card (issued upon registration) to get your points registered. When accumulated, these points can be exchanged for meals and discounts on rooms (or even free rooms), as well as logo items such as mugs, T-shirts, athletic bags, warm-up jackets, and caps. Some casinos offer cash rewards, too.

4 Slot-club Hosts

Almost every casino employs "slot-club hosts," who circulate around the casino. If you have questions about how to play various machines, ask them; ask, too, how long you have to play the machines to be "comped" for lunch, dinner, or entertainment in the casino's showroom (theater). This is accepted procedure, so don't be shy about asking.

5 Sign-up Savvy

Couples who are in Las Vegas for one trip should sign up together, since they will be issued two cards with points accumulated on the same account. Those who plan more trips to the area, however, will profit by signing up singly: casinos send offers such as a certain number of nights at reduced room rates; by signing up as individuals, the couple may be able to take advantage of twice as many nights at the reduced rate.

6 Payouts

Choose machines with the best payout schedules. These schedules are found on the front of each machine and indicate winning combinations and the value paid out when a combination is hit. As experienced machine players are aware, the video poker and slot machines in any given casino have varying payouts as well as payback ratios (the average percentage the machine pays back to the player).

7 Slot Club Money Management

Remember that in every casino game the house has the advantage (even the 100% and better return on the best-paying video poker machines is predicated upon perfect play). Losing $50 to earn a $6.95 buffet award is not a bargain.

8 Table Games

Many casinos include table games in their slot clubs. If you play table games at one of them, contact the pit boss to be sure your playing is included in the point count.

9 Cash-in Advice

Keep an eye on your watch when you plan to redeem your points. Many slot club booths close before midnight and don't open again until the next morning.

10 Future Plans

If you plan to return to Las Vegas quite soon, you might consider subscribing to the Las Vegas Advisor, which includes a monthly "Slot Club Update" column.

TOP 10 Gaming Tournaments

1 Tournament Schedules

Gamblers should contact various casinos to determine if any gaming tournaments are planned for the time they will be in Las Vegas. These tournaments range from daily free events and those with low entry fees to four-day tournaments. Blackjack, slot machine, and video poker tournaments are the most popular.

2 Multi-Day Tournaments

Count on a good deal of free time during four-day tournaments, since actual play takes up only two or three hours. Entry fees usually include lodging (or rooms at reduced rates), some meals or food, and beverage credits for the entrant and a guest. Although entry fees may run into the thousands of dollars, typically they're in the $199 to $599 range. Prize money in the high-stakes tournaments can go as high as a million dollars.

3 Between Rounds

Keep in mind that the casinos' primary reason for putting on tournaments is their belief that participants will gamble in the casino during the time when they're not competing. Most regular slot or video-poker tournaments consist of three rounds of 20–30 minutes each at metered machines and require no money to be spent during tournament play. Winners of each round, as well as the players whose aggregate scores for the three rounds are highest, are awarded prizes.

4 Prizes

The amount of prize money varies, but the majority of tournaments award cash to a large percentage – perhaps a quarter – of the entrants.

5 Blackjack

If blackjack's your game, you'll find that tournaments generally consist of three rounds, with round winners advancing to semi-finals and finals. The entry fee usually covers a certain number of tourney chips, issued at the beginning of the tournament and again before the semi-final and final rounds.

6 High Rollers

If you're a high roller, be sure to get on the invitation list at your casinos of choice. Several casinos don't publicize their tournaments, but instead invite high-end players whose names have been selected from their databases. Complementary accommodations, food, and beverages are generally the properties' finest, and entry fees range all the way from zero to thousands of dollars.

7 Tourney Money Management

For people with finite resources, it is more practical to play in tournaments that have entry fees than those with no fee but participants play with their own money. At tournaments with unlimited buy-ins, players may pay additional money to buy more chips or machine play as the tournament progresses.

8 Playing Plus

When you're competing in a gaming tournament that depends on a combination of luck and skill, stay ahead of the game by sticking to soft drinks and bottled water, rather than complementary alcoholic drinks.

9 Tournament Machines

Don't expect the machines on the casino floor to hit winning combinations as often as the tournament machines. High scores and frequent jackpots create excitement, so as a rule the machines used in tournament play are set to produce lots of action.

10 Repeat Invitations

If you enjoy the gaming tournament experience and want to be invited again, send a thank-you note to the casino's special events director.

TOP 10 Gambling Tips

1 First and Foremost

Remember: gambling is a business. The house almost always wins. Think of it as an evening's entertainment, not as a way of making money. Decide in advance what you are willing to spend, and quit as soon as you have spent it. If you do win anything but want to keep playing then cash in frequently (put your original stake, plus part of your profit, aside) to come out ahead.

2 Casino Games

Blackjack (which is also called "21") is the table game at which players have the best odds. Other popular table games include craps (dice), baccarat, roulette, poker, and three games based on Five Card Stud poker: Caribbean Stud Poker, Let 'er Ride, and Pai Gow.

3 Slot Machines

Many experts believe that slot machines (slots) are addictive. They're the big money-earners for Nevada casinos. Some – video poker, particularly – involve an element of skill. Others are purely games of chance. Newer machines incorporate elements that make them more enticing than the traditional slots.

4 Money Matters

Inserting $10 or $20 bills into slot machine receptors (note that all machines are now coinless) allows for more rapid play, since players need only push a button and the selected amount of coins is deducted. When winning combinations are hit, payouts are added to the total rather than being ejected from the machine. Payouts are by ticket which guests cash at the casino cage.

5 Reading the Payout Tables

Many people who are new to slot machines don't realize that you aren't able to win the highest jackpots posted on a machine unless you insert the maximum number of coins the machine will accept. This means you have to decide whether you want to risk larger amounts, or would prefer to be disappointed if you hit the big one and don't have enough coins in to collect it.

6 Keno

Odds of winning at keno are the lowest of all casino games. The game is based on selecting certain numbers (from 1 to 80) that you hope will be among the 20 numbers to randomly appear. Payouts are based on the number of "catches" (matching numbers selected). Most casinos have keno lounges.

7 Gaming Terms

It is helpful to know at least some of the casino jargon. Hand pay:

winnings paid by casino workers rather than machines. Stickman: a casino worker who uses a hook-shaped stick to move dice around a craps table. Shooter: the player whose turn it is to roll the dice. Tokes: tips given for services rendered. RFB comp: complimentary room, food, and beverages (usually given to customers who spend a lot). High roller: someone who wagers large amounts. Bust hand: in blackjack, a hand that totals more than 21.

8 Gaming Chips

Remember when gambling at the tables that chips are not "play money." At all Las Vegas casinos, $5 chips are red, $25 chips are green and $100 chips are black. The colors of higher denomination chips may vary.

9 Coupon Caution

Take advantage of casino two-for-one or other coupons only if you plan to gamble anyway. Don't let them take advantage of you by enticing you into gambling.

10 Hand Pays

When you hit a jackpot that is paid by casino personnel rather than the machine, it is customary to tip. Any amount is appreciated, but most people tip from three to five percent; big spenders may go as high as 10.

TOP 10 Gambling Risks

1 Forgetting to Take a Break

Don't gamble nonstop. Gambling can be mentally and physically exhausting. If you spend more than an hour deciding whether to hold 'em or fold 'em, or two hours hunched over a slot machine, gamblers' fatigue is bound to set in. Taking a break – perhaps a short stroll outside – will go a long way toward making you feel refreshed.

2 The "It's Due to Hit" Myth

Some gamblers have the idea that since a slot machine hasn't paid any jackpots for a long time, it's due. Not true. Each spin of the reels is an independent event and has nothing to do with what has gone before or will come after.

3 No Good at Math

Beware of penny multiple-coin machines. Casinos make more profit on these machines than on any others. While some machines have nine pay lines, most have 20 or 25. This means that for nine pay lines nine coins must be played if you want to gamble on all the possibilities, or multiples of up to 20 on other machines. As a result, you can bet up to $5 on one push of the deal button.

4 Not Keeping it to Yourself

Don't boast about your winnings anywhere where strangers might hear you. You never know who they might be – con artists or worse.

5 Free Drinks

Resist the cocktail waitresses who circulate throughout the casinos frequently passing out free drinks to gamblers. People who drink excessively don't play as well as they might and have even been known to leave winning tickets behind them when they go.

6 Air Pollution

If you don't like smoking, don't put up with smoke-filled rooms. Some casinos (usually the newer ones) have more effective mechanisms than others for getting rid of smoke. With so many casinos in the city, it isn't hard to find one of them.

7 Cashing Your Paycheck

All sorts of inducements – free drinks, free pulls on slot-machine handles, chances to enter drawings (prize draws) for cars and even houses – are offered so that people will cash their paychecks at casinos.

Why? Because once a paycheck is cashed, it's easier to spend.

8 Neglecting to Set Yourself Limits

Don't neglect to set limits on the amount of money you can afford to lose. Conversely, it's not a good idea to set goals on how much you are going to win before you quit. Probabilities are that it will cost more than the goal itself to reach the goal. It's true that some people do win – at times enormous amounts. But the multi-million and billion-dollar hotel/casinos provide vivid proof that more money is lost than won.

9 Bad Deals

Resist the come-ons some casinos offer of $40 or even $100 in slot play for $20. Play is allowed only on specific machines, and it's only after paying their money that "suckers" learn the real rules.

10 Under-Age Gambling

Don't gamble unless you are 21 years or older. If apprehended, minors are either arrested or given a citation. In either case a court appearance will be required, as the offense is a misdemeanor and subject to penalties that can range from fines to community service or even jail sentences of up to one year.

TOP 10 Gaming Lessons

1 Player's Anxiety

To overcome new-player jitters, it's wise to take lessons in the games you want to play. These are usually available at the casinos listed Monday through Friday: they last about an hour and are free.

2 House Rules

Even if you play poker or baccarat regularly with friends, the benefit of lessons is that you will learn the procedures and protocols of casino play. Not knowing the rules can be embarrassing.

3 Timing

You'll get more out of gaming lessons if you take them in the morning. Casinos – the setting for most lessons – tend to be much noisier and distracting as the day wears on, which can make it difficult to concentrate on what the instructor is saying.

4 Tipping

Although there is no charge for the classes, your instructor will appreciate a tip. Any amount between $2 and $5 would be appropriate.

MGM Grand

5 A Winner

More than a half-dozen casinos on the Strip offer free gaming lessons. Among them are Excalibur, Circus Circus, Tropicana, and Imperial Palace. Class hours and the games taught vary from casino to casino.

6 Exotic Games

When you're ready to tackle Pai Gow, Caribbean Stud, and Let it Ride poker, phone Golden Nugget or The Palms for their lesson times.

7 Downtown Lessons

If you want to keep away from the Strip, then Binion's is one of the few downtown casinos that offers gaming lessons.

8 Off-Strip Instruction

Further afield – and a good choice if you have a car and don't want any parking hassles – Gold Coast Hotel and Casino is reputed to have good gaming instruction.

9 TV Classes

Instead of participating in group gaming lessons, guests at several hotels can learn how to play most casino games by watching the in-house programs on the TV sets in their rooms. Programs repeat at regular intervals throughout the day.

10 A Cautionary Note

So you've taken lessons. That doesn't mean you're an expert yet! Watch actual play before you start wagering, and then bet minimum amounts until you're experienced at casino play.

TOP 10 Las Vegas for Disabled Visitors

1 ADA Coordinators

Las Vegas is perhaps the world's most accessible city for people with disabilities. If you have any questions or any particular needs, have your travel agent contact the hotel's Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) coordinator prior to your visit. Every major hotel-casino has one, responsible for ensuring that the facilities are accessible.

2 Airport Shuttles

Airport shuttles equipped with lifts are available at the airport baggage-claim area doors 1, 3, and 4. You may have to phone for a lift-equipped taxi, but direct-line phones are located in the baggage-claim area. Find out if car-rental company shuttles to their lots are lift-equipped, and let them know in advance if you need rear van seats removed and a ramp.

3 ADA Requirements

Bellagio, the Mirage, and Imperial Palace hotels have the reputation of being the best equipped for people with disabilities. All hotels, however, are supposed to have some rooms especially equipped for disabled guests. You may have to hunt around to find such specific amenities as roll-in showers, assisted-listening devices, vibrating alarm clocks, or televisions with telecaption devices.

4 Casino Accessibility

Every casino has accessible slot machines, and many have lowered tables with wheelchair access. Most bingo parlors have Braille and large-print game cards, and many casinos, if asked in advance, provide sign-language interpreters for gaming lessons.

5 Swimming Pools

Most hotels have lifts to assist guests into swimming pools; some of the pools with sand beaches also have wheelchair-accessible beach entrances.

6 Showroom Space

All Las Vegas venues for production and other shows (generally referred to as showrooms) have special areas for wheelchairs. Let personnel know in advance, since wheelchair users are often seated first.

7 Ramps and Restrooms

You can expect all public buildings, attractions, and hotel-casinos to be ramped and to have restrooms for the disabled. Curbs on most streets have been modified so that they are wheelchair accessible. City buses are fully accessible, as are some taxis, trams, shuttles, and the monorail. It is also possible to rent motorized carts (mechanized one-passenger carts used in lieu of wheelchairs).

8 Medication Schedules

If you need to take medication at certain times, wear a watch – there are no clocks in casinos.

9 Pedestrian Overcrossings

Don't worry about having to climb stairs at overhead pedestrian crossings. They can be reached by elevators or escalators.

TOP 10 Gay and Lesbian Visitors

1 Acceptance

Opinions vary as to the degree of acceptance of gays and lesbians in Las Vegas. While the city is outwardly liberal and permissive – camp, even – its straight citizens are considered by some to be ultra-conservative in their views. Having said that, the city elected its first openly gay representative to the State Assembly in 1996. Many Las Vegas businesses, too, allow for what is euphemistically described as a “domestic partner” in their health insurance plans.

2 Gay Organizations

There are more than 75 gay organizations active in Las Vegas, representing all sorts of interests, from singing to motorcycling.

3 Where the Action Is

The main gay section of Las Vegas, containing a number of gay bars and clubs, is in the Paradise Road, Harmon, and Tropicana avenues area, just east of the MGM Grand.

4 Clubs

If you feel at home with the younger crowd, head for Gipsy. Krave, the only gay bar on the strip, offers themed nights and cabaret. Flex puts on drag shows and an underwear night, while Snick's Place has become an icon, being Las Vegas' oldest gay men's bar.

5 Transgender Bar

The Las Vegas Lounge is the city's only transgender bar.

6 Internet Information

You can get information about gay and lesbian venues in the city from several websites. Try www.gaynvegas.com for listings of accommodations and restaurants that are gay-owned or gay-friendly.

7 Meeting Venue

The Gay & Lesbian Community Center (known also just as The Center, below) sponsors frequent social events and is a venue for meetings of various gay and lesbian groups. It also offers free and confidential tests for HIV on Thursday afternoons from 1pm to 6pm.

8 Reading Material

Get Booked, the city's small but well-stocked gay bookstore, is open seven days a week.

9 Publications

For local gay-related news, pick up copies of the Las Vegas Bugle and Out Las Vegas. Both publications are available at local bars and at Get Booked bookstore.

TOP 10 Banking

1 Vegas Banking Hours

Most banks are open from 9am to either 5pm or 6pm Monday through Friday, and 9am–1pm on Saturday. Branches located in supermarkets tend to have longer hours and stay open all day on Saturday and sometimes on Sunday afternoon.

2 ATMs

Using ATM machines for cash and credit cards for purchases usually ensures the best exchange rates for foreign visitors. Be prepared to pay a fee, which will be charged to your account, for using an ATM at a bank that is not your own. Instructions for use should appear in English and Spanish, and sometimes Japanese.

3 Drive-Through Banking

For many simple money transactions, drive-through banking (often spelled “drive-thru” on signs) is the most convenient method. The windows are usually open for an additional half-hour at the beginning and end of the bank’s regular business day. Drive-throughs usually have cash machines (ATMs), too.

4 Getting Hold of Cash

Check-cashing services, located at various places along the Strip and downtown, charge large fees, so it’s best to try to use alternative methods of getting cash. Cash advances on credit cards are available from cash-advance machines at all hotel-casinos, but again the service will cost you: the typical fee is 5 percent (that’s a $50 fee for cashing $1,000), with larger percentages for smaller amounts.

5 Cashing Personal Checks at Hotels

Most hotels will cash guests’ personal checks, provided they are in US dollars. It is not general policy, however, to cash checks for non-guests.

6 Foreign Currency

Unlike banks in Europe, only a few Las Vegas banks handle foreign currency. Most convenient of these is probably Bank of America. Many hotel-casinos will exchange foreign currency from major countries, but they charge a fee in addition to the hotel’s own exchange rate.

7 Traveler’s Checks

Traveler’s checks can be cashed at any bank or hotel-casino. Try to get the checks in US dollars to avoid paying an exchange fee each time you cash one; if you do use checks in a foreign currency, try to get large denominations to save on fees when you cash the checks.

8 US Currency Denominations

US bank notes come in denominations as low as $1 and as high as $1,000.

9 Dollar Bills

If you are unfamiliar with US banknotes, take heed of the fact that they are notoriously hard to differentiate; pay special attention to this when handing over money to taxi drivers etc. A $1 “bill” is just the same size and color as a $20.

10 Small Change

The US dollar (sometimes referred to as a “buck”) is divided into 100 cents (called pennies). Coins come in one cent, five cent (nickel), ten cent (dime), 25 cent (quarter), and, less often, 50 cent (half-dollar) denominations.

TOP 10 Communications

1 Publications for Visitors

Useful entertainment guides include What's On, Where, Today in Las Vegas, Monorail, and Las Vegas Magazine. Look out for the discount coupons for meals or shows.

2 Las Vegas Newspapers

The city's principal newspaper, the Las Vegas Review-Journal is published daily. The most widely read alternative newspapers are Las Vegas Weekly, and CityLife, both free and published weekly.

3 Internet Access

A stay at a luxury hotel usually includes the cost of online usage in your room. If you require public Internet access, visit a local print shop such as Fedex Office, which provides Internet access for a fee of $0.20 a minute. Alternatively, for those with the time (and ambition), visit a local library and sign up for a library card, which will allow you complimentary access for a preset amount of time.

4 Making Calls

To place a call within Las Vegas and environs, omit the 702 area code. When telephoning outside the area, you will need to dial a 1, followed by the appropriate area code and seven-digit number. Local calls cost 50 cents for three minutes. The easiest way to pay for long-distance calls is to insert your credit card. As elsewhere in the world, calls made from hotel rooms cost a great deal more than those made from pay phones.

5 Public Telephones

You'll find public telephones, or pay phones, outside supermarkets and gas stations, and in restaurants, hotels, and casinos all around the area. When they're inside buildings, phones are usually located near the restrooms.

Public phone

6 Cell Phones

If you want to rent a cell phone during your stay, consult the local yellow pages or have the hotel concierge locate one for you.

7 Hotel Business Centers

Most major hotels have business centers for guests' use (although not for free) equipped with the latest computers; some also offer secretarial services and have guest rooms equipped with "dataports" for computers, fax, and internet usage.

8 Western Union

If you need to send international telegrams, ask hotel personnel where to find the nearest Western Union office. You can also use Western Union for wiring funds.

9 Post Offices

You can have incoming mail sent either direct to your hotel or to "General Delivery" at any US Post Office in the city. Two post offices that are conveniently located for visitors are the Downtown Station and the General Mail Facility.

10 TV and Radio

Choose from around 40 local radio and TV stations. If the local fare fails to satisfy, your hotel is very likely to have cable or satellite TV.

TOP 10 Things to Avoid

1 Traffic Tangle

Any street intersecting with Las Vegas Boulevard South means slow traffic, but drivers should avoid the Tropicana–Las Vegas Boulevard intersection altogether, if possible: it is the busiest intersection in the city and can take 15 minutes or more to get through.

2 Crime Zone

Although the Strip and the five-block Fremont Street Experience pedestrian mall are considered safe at any time, certain areas in North Las Vegas and on S. Maryland Parkway, around Sunrise Hospital, are not. The area north of Las Vegas library on Las Vegas Boulevard North is perhaps the roughest neighborhood in town. Do not walk there.

3 Con Artists

Rings of confidence tricksters – men and women – frequently operate in Nevada, with all sorts of scams. They prey primarily, but not exclusively, on the elderly. Beware anyone who approaches you with an offer that seems too good to be true, and never agree to collect jackpot winnings for another person on the promise that you'll be paid for doing so. Card sharps in particular look for suckers. Don't be one: if a deals sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

4 Resist the Girlie Clubs

Men are lured inside with bold promises, persuaded to pay extraordinary amounts for watered-down drinks, then sent on their way, not necessarily with the promised sexual favors. Prostitution is legal in the state of Nevada except in five counties, including Clark County. Las Vegas is in Clark County, so apprehended prostitutes and their customers are subject to fines and imprisonment.

5 Cache Your Cash

Don't wear expensive jewelry: it alerts robbers or pickpockets to the fact that you would be a lucrative target. Keep valuables in your room safe if there is one, or in the hotel's safe if there isn't. Keep your belongings with you at all times: the excitement of the bright lights, music, and carnival atmosphere can be distracting. If you win a large amount of money, ask for it in the form of a check rather than cash. Casinos will also provide security escorts for customers who request them.

6 Don't Let the Kids Roam

Do not allow youngsters under the age of 16 to go out on their own; children under 12 should not go without adults to malls or game arcades, even if they are in a group.

7 Car Trouble

Avoid poorly lighted garages and parking lots at night, especially when they seem deserted. Lock your car doors even when you are driving. Put all packages and luggage in the trunk. When you leave your car at valet parking, it's wise to remove anything of value and have only your car and trunk keys on the key-ring.

8 Mealtime Precautions

Cold soup and warm potato salad are potential sources of food poisoning, so when eating at buffets make sure that the food that is supposed to be hot is hot, and the food that is supposed to be cold is cold.

9 Panhandlers

It's up to you, of course, whether you give money to panhandlers (beggars), but you might consider contributing instead to charities that provide food and shelter for the homeless.

10 Law-Enforcement Officers

Despite the carefree atmosphere of Las Vegas, the police department is strict about enforcing the city's laws. Don't do anything here that you wouldn't do in your own home town.

TOP 10 Ways to Stay Healthy

1 Becoming Acclimated

Give your body a chance to become acclimated upon arrival before engaging in strenuous activity, especially if you have traveled a long distance or from a much different climate or altitude. Because of the dry weather, for example, people prone to nosebleeds may experience problems.

2 Taking the Water

Nevada's low humidity means that you must drink plenty of fluids each day (alcoholic beverages don't count), especially during the summer. Dehydration and heat stroke account for many emergency medical service calls.

3 Solar Protection

Slather on the sunscreen whenever you go outdoors, not just when at the hotel pool. Even when the Nevada sunlight is filtered through clouds, it can burn.

4 Precautionary Measures

Pollution caused by blowing desert dust, vehicle emissions, and microscopic grit from construction sites can be a problem for people with respiratory problems.

5 Allergies and Arthritis

People with allergies to dust and sagebrush may have a problem in Las Vegas. However, most people with arthritis find that the low humidity is more comfortable for them than climates with higher humidity.

6 Overindulgence

Drinking too much is easy in the casinos' party atmosphere of bright lights and free drinks. It's up to you how much you indulge, but do not even think about driving afterward. Under Nevada law, the blood alcohol level at which a person is presumed intoxicated is 0.1 percent and can bring about a court appearance and heavy fine if the driver is stopped by police. In the case of an accident involving fatalities, it can result in imprisonment.

7 Insurance

Travel insurance may not be mandatory for visitors to the USA, but it is emphatically recommended because emergency medical and dental care can be extremely expensive. In most cases, people incurring medical expenses are required to make payment (or arrangement for it) before leaving the clinic, hospital, or physician's office.

8 Take Your Medicine

Remember that there are no clocks in casinos: the excitement of gaming may make you forget to take your regular medications. (Also be aware of those that shouldn't be taken with alcohol.) To have prescriptions filled, go either to drugstores (pharmacies) or the pharmacy departments of supermarkets, several of which are open 24 hours.

9 In Case of Illness

Since Las Vegas has more tourists than any other US destination, the medical professional is especially mindful of the need for in-room service (not usual in the USA). If you develop a condition that requires medical attention, Inn-House Doctor, Inc. offers free telephone consultations and the doctors make hotel visits if necessary. Harmon Medical Center offers a walk-in clinic and is open 24 hours daily; you will need medical insurance and some ID to use this service. House Call Physicians specializes in in-room care for most types of medical problems.

10 Medical Emergencies

In case of an extreme medical emergency, dial 911 from any telephone (remember to dial the appropriate number to get an outside line if you're in your hotel room or dial "0" and ask the operator to dial it for you and send help to your room immediately.

TOP 10 Desert Precautions

1 Water Requirements

Be sure to carry drinking water. A gallon per person per day is suggested. The outdoor enthusiasts' greatest dangers are from hypothermia (extreme over-cooling) and heatstroke (extreme over-heating). Preventing dehydration helps avoid the latter. Carry water for your car, too. Even the radiators of new cars can overheat when outside temperatures hit 120°F (nearly 50°C).

2 Car Check

Be sure your car is in good mechanical condition and that it has a full gas tank. Stay on paved roads; do not drive on the shoulder, if possible, because there is danger of being trapped in the sand.

3 Flash Floods

Don't try to drive through flooded areas. If water begins to rise over the road, it is actually best to abandon your car and move to high ground.

4 Don't Go Solo

Never venture into the desert alone, and don't go hiking without a map and a good compass, even if you have a Global Positioning System (GPS).

5 Tell Somebody

Whenever you go hiking in the desert, advise a park ranger or other responsible person of your destination and estimated time of return. In case you become lost, search and rescue teams can work more effectively if they have information to guide them.

6 Dress Properly

Layered clothing slows dehydration and minimizes exposure. Summer temperatures up to 125°F (52°C) are not uncommon, and winter temperatures can plunge below freezing. During the course of a typical day and night, there may be a huge variation in temperature.

7 Be Prepared

Always carry a first-aid kit when hiking. Every hiker over the age of 12 should know CPR and basic first aid.

8 Dangerous Creatures

Beware of rattlesnakes and scorpions. Before you go, learn how to treat their bites (getting medical help as quickly as possible is recommended). Other dangerous animals and insects that live in the desert are gila monsters, mountain lions, wild boar, bears, killer bees, and centipedes. Wildlife may seem tame but will attack if they feel threatened or that their young are in danger.

9 Cover Your Head

Wear a hat to help prevent heatstroke whenever you are subjected to the desert sun's rays in the middle of the day – even when it is overcast. Even if you spend only minutes outside, you should protect your skin with sunscreen and use lip balm. Moisturizer is helpful in the desert climate as well.

10 Curb Your Curiosity

Stay away from abandoned mines. They are very dangerous because of the possibility of cave-ins, sharp drop-offs, and deadly gases.

TOP 10 Camping and Houseboating

1 Research your Campsites

Camping in city parks is generally not permitted. Camping in state and national parks is permitted in spaces designated for that use, and some off-trail overnight camping for hikers is allowed. Most state and national park and recreation area campgrounds have a first come, first served policy, so arrive early to have a better chance of getting a site. However, since other campgrounds require reservations, you'll need to contact them in advance. Be sure to obey all campground rules regarding fires, keeping pets on a leash, and the disposal of trash.

2 Tent Sites

There are only 15 tent sites at Red Rock Canyon but if you are lucky enough to find one free you can stay up to 14 days. There are also tent sites at Mt. Charleston and campsites around Lake Mead.

3 Reservations

Make reservations at privately owned campgrounds as far in advance as possible. As camping increases in popularity, it is more difficult to get a space without reservations. This is especially true during the summer when schoolchildren are on vacation and in the early autumn, a favorite holiday time for seniors.

4 Casino Campgrounds

It's especially important to reserve early if you want to stay at one of the casino camping facilities. Circusland RV Park is adjacent to Circus Circus on the Strip, and Sam's Town RV Park is near Sam's Town Hotel & Gambling Hall.

5 RV-Friendly Parking Lots

Laughlin is the most RV-friendly area in southern Nevada. Recreational vehicles can be parked in its casino parking lots overnight and there are several recreational vehicle parks on the other side of the Colorado River in Bullhead City, Arizona.

6 RV Rentals

If you would like to rent a recreational vehicle while you're in Las Vegas, you can choose from more than half a dozen rental companies. You will find them listed in the yellow pages of the Las Vegas telephone directory and on the Internet.

7 Campground Caution

Never camp in or near a dry wash (the course water takes when it rains) because of the potential for flash floods. Do not camp on the top of a large hill because of the danger from lightning and extreme winds.

8 Downpours

If you are camping in the desert when heavy rains begin, move to high ground immediately – at least 30 to 40 ft (10 m) above the canyon floor or bottom of a dry wash is recommended.

9 Houseboating

To rent a houseboat, contact either Seven Crown Resorts or Forever Resorts well in advance. The Forever Resorts marina at Callville Bay, the closer of the two, is about a 45-minute drive from the Las Vegas Strip.

10 Season Selection

Summer may be unpleasantly hot but is the peak season for campers and houseboaters: make arrangements up to a year in advance. The best rental values are during the winter, but the weather may not be pleasant. Consider renting a houseboat either during spring or fall.

TOP 10 Tips on Booking a Hotel

1 Choose an Appropriate Hotel

Take your personal travel style into consideration when choosing where to stay. If you like action and don't mind noise, you will want to stay on the Strip or downtown. If gaming will play only a minor part in your holiday, you will be better off staying at a hostelry that doesn't have a casino.

2 Travel Agents

The easiest way to reserve Las Vegas rooms is by having a travel agent book them for you. However, travel agents often do not have access to money-saving resources or time to access them.

3 Arrangements on the Internet

Almost all major Las Vegas hotel/casinos have their own Web sites on which they offer online bookings and advertise promotions. These are listed under their main entries within this book.

4 Packages

Explore the many airline/ accommodations packages. The least expensive of these are gambling junkets that usually include airline flights and two- to four-night hotel stays, based on double occupancy. There are often, but not always, several hotel choices in various price categories.

5 Individual Requirements

To make the most satisfactory room arrangements, phone the hotel directly to talk with a reservationist. By discussing your needs with a person who knows the hotel intimately you are more likely to get exactly the room that you want.

6 Bargains

For rock-bottom Las Vegas room rates, time your stay to coincide with the days preceding and following New Year's Eve and New Year's Day (or the entire weekend if New Year falls within one), as well as the days between the National Finals Rodeo and Christmas. Hotel websites are usually the best places to find special deals throughout the year.

7 Times to Avoid

Room rates are usually higher over weekends and can more than quadruple when there is a major convention at the hotel or nearby (see p117).

8 National Parks

National parks in the USA are extremely popular – especially those in the American Southwest. The effect of this is that booking accommodations within the parks, as well as whitewater rafting and mule rides at the Grand Canyon should be made at least a year in advance. Otherwise, you will have to stay in an outlying area.

9 Outlying Areas

Accommodations in Laughlin, Boulder City, Mesquite, and areas within the Las Vegas orbit are not as difficult to obtain nor as expensive as most of those in Las Vegas or Henderson.

10 Last-Minute Rates

If you are extremely flexible, you can take advantage of last-minute cancellations even when the city is at its most crowded by calling the Las Vegas Convention & Visitors Authority (see p115).
